Daniell Gives Procedure For Readmittance To ACC

Editor's Note — The following information has been obtained from the office of James D. Daniell, Director of Admissions at Atlantic Christian College, at the request of many students on campus. The data, concerning suspension and readmission at ACC, will be given in question and answer form.

(Q.) If a student at ACC remains out of school during an enrollment period, does he have to reapply for admission?

(A.) Yes.

(Q.) How does he reapply?

(A.) The student must notify James D. Daniell, Director of Admissions and request that he be considered for readmission.

(Q.) If a student is suspended for one semester, does his former status automatically entitle him to be re-enrolled at ACC?

(A.) No. This one semester, out of school, only entitles him to be eligible for consideration for readmission to school.

(Q.) If during this period of suspension the student attends another college, does he have to remove his probation status in order to return to ACC?

(A.) Yes. He has to remove this status as if he were enrolled at ACC.

(Q.) When should a student reapply for admission?

(A.) The student should apply for readmission immediately upon his decision to return to ACC.

(Q.) Who makes the decision on readmission applications?

(A.) The Admissions Committee makes this decision upon information provided by the Director of Admissions.

(Q.) Why must a student who is out of school for a semester for any reason, have to reapply by regular procedure?

(A.) Because enrollment is limited to a certain number each semester, therefore the admissions office has to know who is planning to re-enroll.

(Q.) If one has been suspended at the end of the spring semester, does the summer term count as a period of enrollment to meet suspension requirement?

(A.) No. However, the summer term will count as a period of enrollment to remove probation with acceptable grades. If one attends summer school and does not remove probation status acquired in the spring semester, he remains ineligible for the fall semester.

Worden Allen, director of development at ACC, made the proposal and stated that Milton Rogerson, publicity director, would be employed to take the pictures to alleviate the cost of hiring a professional photographer.
