NUMBER TEN

Motion Is Adopted on Cafeteria

New Revision Of Constitution Is Near Debate

Richard Surles announced at last Monday's Executive Board meeting that a rough draft of the new revised Constitution and By-Laws will probably be ready for distribution to the Board at next Monday's meeting.

Surles is chairman of the Constitution and By-Laws Committee which also includes Lee Horne, Cookie Wickham, Dwight Wagner, Stuart Lee, Hubert Burden, and Robert E. Bennett, dean of students.

The draft is being made available so that Board members may study it over the Christmas holidays. This will prepare them for the discussions of the proposed constitution which are expected to be expanded over several regular Board meetings.

With a Board of Trustees meeting scheduled for February 24, to be considered for approval by this body the revised constitution must be approved by the Executive Board and the Cooperative Association as a whole before that date.

It is expected that the by-laws will be much more extensive and detailed than those presently in force. It is certain there will be much discussion concerning the proposed constitution and by-laws when they are presented to the Cooperative Association.

Student Meet Adopts New Constitution

The adoption of a new constitution and the passage of a "bus discounts" resolution were the principal orders of business during the administrative plenary of the NSA Carolinas-Virginia Regional Conference held last weekend at Woman's College, Duke University.

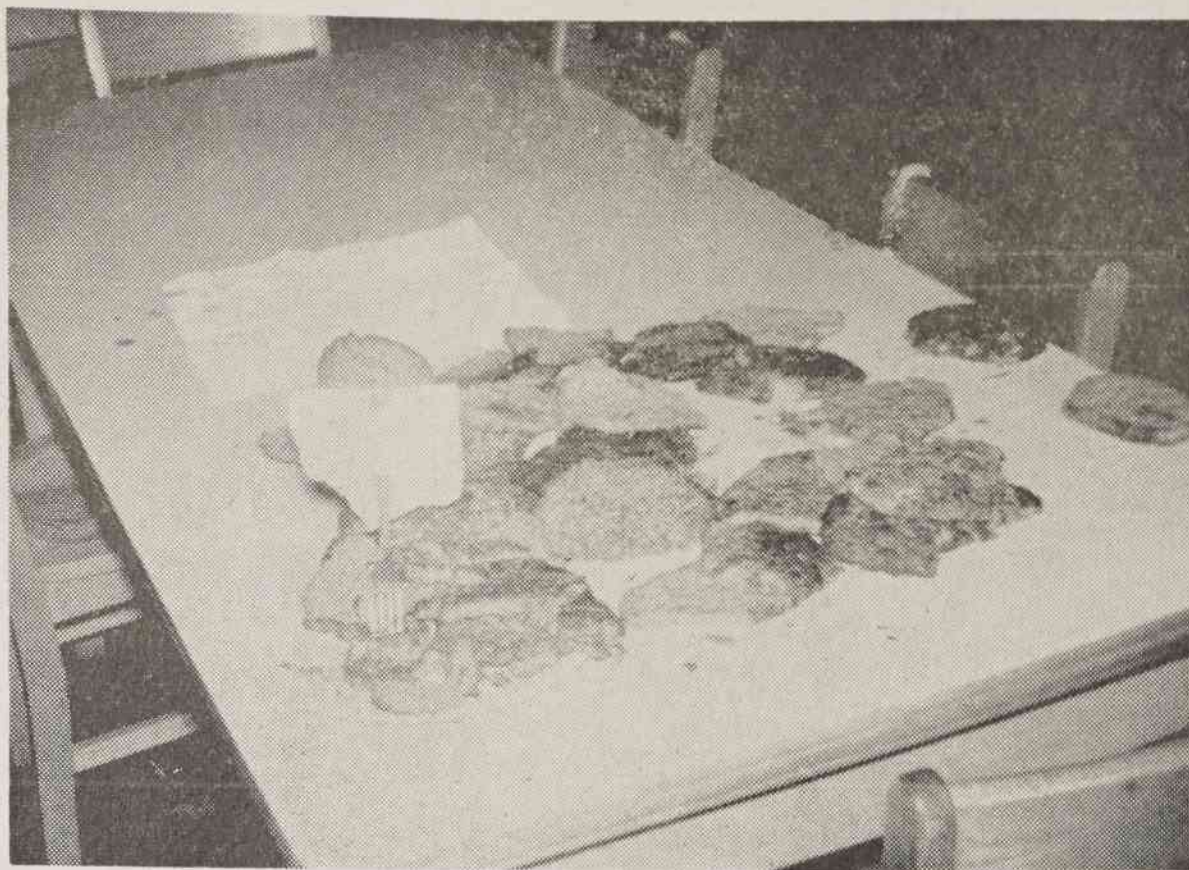

The regional executive officers had been mandated at last spring's assembly to present a new constitution to the fall conference for adoption.

An attempt by the N. C. State delegation to amend the preamble of the constitution failed by an overwhelming majority. The amendment would have deleted the words "and God" from the phrase, "to foster the recognition of the rights and responsibilities of students to the school, the community, humanity and God."

Terry Lauder, regional chairman, pointed out to the assembly that the preamble had been copied verbatim from the preamble of the national constitution. Neil Jackson of the University of North Carolina delegation spoke in opposition to the amendment. The ACC delegation cast two votes against the deletion.

An amendment to change the wording of a sub-section governing the status of regional officers failed for the lack of a second.

The "bus discounts" resolution mandated an investigation be made under the direction of the chairman in the possibility of establishing a system of discounts on bus services within the region. The resolution stated that "students are notoriously ill-equipped financially to meet the higher cost of transportation. The resolution was proposed by Sweet Briar College in Virginia.

STEAKS REJECTED—Some 50 Atlantic Christian College students dumped "hickory smoked hamburger steaks" on a cafeteria table (above) last Thursday night in an effort to demonstrate their dissatisfaction with the general food service in the ACC cafeteria. Later 200 students gathered in front of the cafeteria staging an hour-long protest over cafeteria conditions.

"Supremes" Motion Is Passed

President Lee Lorne reported to the Executive Board meeting Monday that efforts are underway to set up a delegation to represent ACC at the State Student Legislature in February at Raleigh. He encouraged the delegation to plan and to introduce a worthwhile bill to that body.

Stuart Lee, Sophomore Class President, moved that the Board underwrite his class in the amount of $200 for a concert featuring the "Supremes" which his class is planning for the spring. Lee related that tickets would be sold at $1.50 at the door and $2.00 for advance tickets. The motion was passed after some discussion.

Through a motion made by Janice Cousins the Board agreed to finance the repair of the piano which was assigned a home at Harper Hall during last week's session.

Marshall Smith informed the Board of a communication system whereby student drivers desiring riders to share expenses and student riders desiring rides may coordinate their activities. Smith asserted that systems of this nature were active in other colleges and offer students a valuable service. He suggested that the Board appoint a committee to establish such a system at ACC. Cookie Wickham made the motion to this effect and the motion was passed.

Lee Horne announced that he had been asked to recommend for dormitory students to serve as student representatives of a proposed Cafeteria Committee. This is to be a standing committee and will include in addition to the four students two faculty members and two administration members. Horne announced that he had selected Lynn Head, Elwood Vann, Dwight Wagner, and

The students are seniors, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Whiteley of Wilson; juniors, Fred Barber of Portsmouth, Va., and Martha Mewborn of Kinston; sophomores, Thurman Bruffey of Kinston, and Kenneth Britton of Portsmouth, Va.; and freshmen, Wiley D. The two-day conference was jointly sponsored by The College of the Bible and the Kentucky Association of Christian Churches.

Thomas Hackney Sr. Honored

Thomas J. Hackney Sr., was honored Tuesday evening at a dinner given by the Atlantic Christian College Chapter of the American Association of University Professors. Attending were some 80 persons which included ACC faculty members of the Executive Committee history is in a name. The name Hackney, is memorialized in one of our buildings, but far more significantly memorialized in a long tradition of family service to the institution."

Dr. Hartsock told of George Hackney, father of the guest of honor, being the first chairman of the Board of Trustees of the college. Thomas Hackney Sr., joined the board in 1932 and took over as chairman in 1936. "During his 32 years of leadership," said the speaker, "nine buildings have been built; faculty training has been strengthened; financial undergirding has been improved; and plans for the future have burgeoned.

"Tom Hackney has given generous gifts to the college. But far more important has been his passionate belief in the college. He has been the very pattern of the ideal trustee; hard-working, open-minded, profoundly dedicated to the welfare of the college he loves."

Presiding at the dinner was Gene of the Board of Trustees, children of the guest of honor and administrative guests.

Speaker for the event was Dr. Mildred Hartsock, chairman of the Department of English, who said, "A character in one of Shakespeare's plays asked the question: What's in a name? Those who know the developing history of Atlantic Christian College might answer a goodly segment of that

Students Asked To Refrain From Future Protests

The Executive Board of the Cooperative Association went into committee as a whole Monday night along with some 40 interested ACC students to discuss the recent protest and the conditions in the cafeteria. The number of students observing the meeting was the largest reported this year.

The Board approved a motion that "the newly formed college standing committee appointed to investigate the cafeteria food service be recommended to submit a report to the Executive Board at a regular weekly meeting during the Spring Semester of 1965, by the middle of the Semester, and that they also include comments on the explicit improvements. At the time of reporting, the Executive Board will relay this report in full for consideration to the student body. And that until this time the Executive Board recommends to the student body that they refrain from protests."

The new standing committee consists of the college business manager, the dean of students, a faculty member, the cafeteria dietician, and four ACC resident students. A similar committee was appointed last year to study the food service in the cafeteria.

Approximately 200 ACC students protested food service in the cafeteria last Thursday evening in a demonstration that lasted more than an hour.

Dr. Arthur Wenger, president of the college, was present at a special student assembly last Friday morning to discuss student grievances over the food service. An estimated 400 students attended the special meeting.

The demonstration Thursday night was triggered when the cafeteria served hickory-smoked hamburger steaks for dinner.

Some 40 hamburgers were dumped onto a cafeteria table with a note reading, "this is 100 per cent dog food," and on the other side, "this food is for the dogs."

Approximately 100 trays were left on the tables by students angry over the quality of the food served. Student complaints about the food service have been because of quality, quantity, the manner in which food is served, excessive line breaking as well as long waiting lines.
