Six Students Save Dance

The back-to-school dance, postponed because of the outbreak of flu on campus several weeks ago, seemed to be headed for a similar fate again last Saturday night. Because of a complication the dance was left without a combo.

The combo had evidently made previous arrangements about which the agency through which they were booked to ACC knew nothing. At 8'clock Saturday night, when the group had not arrived, the representative of the agency was called, and those responsible for the dance were assured that the group would arrive shortly. This information proved to be wrong and it was later discovered that the group played at a fraternity party at Duke University that night.

Despite all these unfortunate happenings, the Co-Op went to work on the problem, and six ACC students came to the rescue. Forming a combo quickly, but effectively, were John Cedarburg, Steve Estep, Sam Fowler, Steve Perry, Mike Wenger, and Chuck Willis.

NEW WAY TO STUDY — Junior Peggy Medlin seems to have found a new and comfortable way to study these days. This pretty coed is sure to have many ACC men paying close attention to her new methods. Peggy comes to ACC from Louisburg, N. C.
