

First 8-Page Collegiate! The Collegiate

PUBLISHED WEEKLY

ATLANTIC CHRISTIAN COLLEGE, APRIL 28, 1966

NUMBER TWENTY TWO

Greeks Seek To Improve Relations

Board Holds Last Session

Monday night's Executive Board meeting was the last working meeting for the 1965-66 members. Next Monday night this year's board will hold its last meeting, in the form of the annual board dinner, at the Holiday Inn.

In the business of the evening several things were brought to the attention of the board. A report on a Chapel Survey, which was conducted by the Chapel and Assembly Committee, was presented to the board and a motion was passed to present a copy of the report to the administrative officials.

A motion was also passed to recommend to the Board of Trustees that the new women's dormitory be named after Miss Sarah Bain Ward. In discussing this motion it was noted that in the past there had been a requirement that one must pay fifty-one per cent of the construction cost of a building in order for it to be named after him.

A report was also given on the Carolina Symposium which was held recently at UNC on the topic "Man and Mind."

The meeting ended with each member being given the opportunity to state anything he wished concerning this year's board and the accomplishments which it has made.

Hodges Quits Alumni Post

R. Hatten Hodges, Jr., director of alumni affairs at Atlantic Christian College, has been named a registered representative for Carolina Investors Corporation, Raleigh.

A native of Raleigh, Hodges was graduated from Atlantic Christian in 1963 and was awarded the bachelor of arts degree. He was appointed director of alumni affairs following his graduation. While attending the college he served as editor of the college newspaper, "The Collegiate," and was winner of the Wilson Daily Times Publications Award.

While at Atlantic Christian he was named a member of the Golden Knot Honor Society and was awarded the Faculty Cup for the best all-round student in his senior year.

For the past two years he has served as president of Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity Alumni Board and is currently a member of the Wilson Jaycees. A member of the First Christian Church, he is currently serving as a Sunday School teacher and deacon of the church.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Hodges of New Bern, he is married to the former Miss Nancy Weddle of Asheville. They have one child, a daughter, Lora Lynn.

He will assume his duties with the Carolina Investors on June 1 and according to William L. Dempsey, vice president of the company, will be concerned primarily with the sale of investment company securities.

GAVEL TO CHANGE HANDS — David Webb, SGA President is shown passing the gavel to President-elect Dwight Wagner in preparation for the actual ceremony which will take place during the Student Government Association's Annual Blue-White Day, Tuesday, May 3, during the assembly period in the college gymnasium. This is the time set aside each year for introducing the newly elected campus leaders to the student body. Awards will also be given to the winners of the Denny Essay Cup, Rotary Cup, David Blackwood Memorial, and the Wilson Daily Times Publications Award.

Shortage Of Campus Telephones Develops In Ringing Problem

By ANN JOHNSON

Through past experience, it has become apparent to many resident women and as many young men that placing a telephone call to or from a college resident hall is not as easy as it may seem. Getting a call into a dormitory without first hearing that familiar busy signal is truly a stroke of luck. Meanwhile, resident women settle beside the phone to wait for the golden moment of opportunity when she alone may use the phone.

At the present, all calls to the college come through the main switchboard in the administration building. In the next year, there will be added to that already overloaded switchboard the phones in the new art building, gymnasium and, most significantly, the new women's dormitory. The question as to what to do about the increasing telephone problem has been raised time and again by both students and administration.

A partial solution to the problem of alleviating some of the load on the new dorm phones has been offered by those planning the building. Conduits, or pipes through which telephone wires can be run, are being installed in the new dorm. This will make possible the installation of private one- or two-party phones in each room. It should be understood that private phones will be the concern of only the individual and the phone company, as if the individual were having a phone installed in his own home; the college will assume no responsibility in the payment of the bills. In the bidding for the new dorm, the conduits were left out. However, they were later added in the hope of helping alleviate the problem. According to administration officials, the possibility of such a system for Harper and Caldwell was investigated, but it was found to be impossible because of no conduits. The possibility of additional lines going into the dorms was also investigated but it was found that the present switchboard cannot handle any more trunks, or additional lines. Here is where the main problem lies and where those in authority seem to stop their attempt at solving the problem. In our opinion, the situation is acute and it is definitely time those in authority view it that way. The inadequate switchboard has been an excuse for inaction too long.

New "Crucible" Available May 2

The 1966 spring issue of "Crucible," a magazine of creative ideas published by the Department of Art and the Department of English at Atlantic Christian College, will be available on May 2, 1966.

The publication will include two portfolios of paintings — one — by Russell W. Arnold, chairman of the ACC Department of Art, and one by Maud Gatewood, professor of art at the University of North Carolina at Charlotte. There will be a portfolio of creative photography and the usual color fold-out will be executed by Bruce Strickland.

Contributing two long essays will be Dr. Mildred Hartsock, professor of English and chairman of the ACC Department of English, and another by Jules Langsner, one of the world's top art critics. There will also be a number of pieces of short prose and 20 poems.

"Crucible" will be available during the first week of May in the lobby of the ACC Classroom Building, or may be obtained through the Art or English departments at the college.

Notice

Advanced registration for the 1966 Summer Session at Atlantic Christian College will be held on May 4 and 5 from 2:00 - 5:00 p.m. Only those students who are currently enrolled may register on these dates. Advanced registrations will not be accepted after May 5th. On these days interested students should report to their Advisor's office, fill in a summer school registration card, and return it to their Advisors. May 9th through May 12th pre-registered students are to report to the Registrar's office to fill in their class cards. Between May 23rd and 27th students should clear with the Business Office and pick up their class admission tickets.

Better Relations Committee Formed To View Problems

(Editor's Note: The following resolution was prepared by representatives of the Panhellenic Council and the Inter Fraternity Council as a joint Greek action in an attempt to improve communications and discussion of matters directly affecting Greeks.)

Whereas: The members of the Greek System of Atlantic Christian College wish to express their dissatisfaction with the lack of cooperative relations and understanding between the Atlantic Christian College Administration and said group, and;

Whereas: This cooperative effort is essential to the well-being of both the college and Greek system, and;

Whereas: The Greek System realizes that no concrete effort has been made to alleviate this lack of cooperation and understanding.

Therefore, be it resolved that: A Greek - Administration Better Relations Committee be formulated. And, be it further resolved that:

The purpose of this committee shall be to analyze and evaluate the existing Greek - Administration relations. And that said committee shall use every administrative, faculty, and Greek source available to arrive at objective conclusions for their study and shall make specific suggestions with regard to improving said relations in view of their findings. And be it further resolved that:

See RELATIONS Page 8

First

It is with pleasure that we present the first 8-page "Collegiate" to be published on a weekly schedule. It represents a high point in this year's "Collegiate" activity, and it is hoped that a good number of six and eight-page papers will be published next year.

Prof. Winstead Completes Doctorate Requirements

E. D. Winstead, associate professor of education in the Department of Education and Psychology at Atlantic Christian College, has completed requirements for the Ed. D. degree in education at Duke University.

Professor Winstead will be awarded the degree at commencement at Duke June 6. Subject of his doctoral dissertation was "The Development of Law Pertaining to Desegregation of Public Schools in North Carolina."

A native of Wilson, Winstead received the B. S. degree from Atlantic Christian College in 1960 and was awarded the M. Ed. degree by Duke University in 1961. He retired from the U. S. Army in December 1957, with the rank of lieutenant colonel following a military career of 25 years. While in the Army he was with Gen. Jonathan Wainwright at the surrender of Corregidor and a captive of the Japanese army for three years in the Philippine Islands.

A member of the Atlantic Christian College faculty since 1962, Winstead is married to the former Miss Josephine Minshew of Wilson. They have four children. A son, Edward, also an alumni of ACC, is a graduate of the United States Military Academy.

Winstead is son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Winstead of Route 4, Wilson.

PROF. E. D. WINSTEAD