

ACC Wins Invitational Tournament

Studies Made On Calendar

It was announced by the Dean of students at the SGA Executive Board meeting this week that a special committee has been appointed to study possible changes that might be made in the college calendar. One of the main changes under consideration is ending the Fall semester before Christmas. The committee was to report on its findings Wednesday of this week. Along with the faculty who are on the committee there are three student members.

It was also announced by the Dean of Students that a thirty-day extension had been requested on bids for the proposed men's dorm, and it has been granted. Dean Bennett said this was done in hopes that by having this additional time and by working with the architect the cost of the dorm could be brought back into perspective, thus preventing the whole project from having to be abandoned.

Dwight Wagner, SGA president, reported that there had been trouble in obtaining the film on China, therefore times for showing the film had to be changed, and because of this many students were unable to see it. He reported the film came to the school on time, but someone signed his name to the voucher without his knowledge and placed the film in the lobby of the administration building. No one knew that the film had come to the school, and it was only by accident that the film was found in time to allow at least a few students to see it.

It was also reported by the SGA president that a letter had been sent to the Soviet Embassy for the purpose of obtaining someone to speak on campus, however the embassy had replied

Dean Swindell Named To Post

Dr. Lewis H. Swindell Jr., dean of Atlantic Christian College, has been named to the State Advisory Council on Teacher Education and Professional Standards by the N. C. State Board of Education, according to Dr. J. P. Freeman director, Division of Professional Services, N. C. Department of Public Instruction.

Dr. Swindell was among four new members named to serve on the 19 - member council for a three-year term. The appointment was made upon recommendation of Dr. Charles F. Carroll, State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Work of the council is done through three standing committees: Executive Committee, Committee on Standards for Teacher Education, and Committee on In-Service Education.

DEAN SWINDELL

On Friday night, December 7, Chaplain Dan Hensley crowned Miss Amy Causby as Miss Pine Knot for 1967. The second runner-up was Miss Jill Matthews and the first runner-up was Miss Gwen Eason. The entertainment for the dance was provided by Chester Mayfield and The Casuals. The dance was sponsored by Delta Zeta Sorority.

Faculty Remains Busy During Holiday

The Christmas Holiday Period was not all food and Santa Claus for a number of our faculty as several were attending various professional meetings in New York, December 22-29.

Dr. Mildred E. Hartssock, Dr. James B. Hemby, Mrs. Edna Johnston, and Mrs. Ruth Smith attended a meeting of the Modern Language Association.

Dr. Robert W. Delp and Mrs. Sarah B. Gattis attended the annual meeting of the American Historical Association. The main address was given on December 29 by Roy F. Nichols, president of the society. The address was entitled, "A History in a Self-Governing Culture."

Dr. William O. Paulsell attended meetings of the American Historical Association and the American Society of Church History.

Dr. Roger Bullard delivered a paper in his research in the area of Nag-Hammadi Gnostic manuscripts during a symposium at the annual meeting of the Society of Biblical Literature held at Union Theological Seminary. The society is a professional organization of American scholars in the Biblical area.

Other participants in the symposium were Dr. James M. Robinson of Claremont Graduate School, Claremont, Calif., and Dr. Robert Kraft of the Harvard Divinity School.

The Nag-Hammadi Manuscripts are a group of ancient writings discovered in Egypt 20 years ago, written in the Coptic language. They are of Gnostic origin, a religious movement of the early centuries A.D., which was influential in the development of early Christian heresy, and possibly formed a significant part of the background of some of the New Testament books.

Grant O. Folmsbee, associate professor of psychology at Atlantic Christian College also attended the Third Institute on Mental Retardation sponsored by the University of Minnesota and the Minnesota Department of Health in Minneapolis, Minn., Dec. 12-15.

Attending the institute were college faculty members from 21 states. The purpose of the institute was to provide an intensive updating experience in the field of mental retardation and related handicapping conditions for college instructors who teach general courses on child growth and development or introductory courses on atypical children.

The institute was under direction of Dr. Maynard C. Reynolds, director of special education, College of Education, University of Minnesota; and Dr. A. B. Rosenfield, director of Special Services Section, Minnesota Department of Health.

YRC Officers

Just prior to Christmas vacation the Young Republican Club of Atlantic Christian College met to elect officers. Miss Tassie Langley, the Club's sponsor, provided refreshments for the meeting. Those elected are: Jacqueline Baker, President; Timothy Northcott, Vice - President; Patricia Wylie, Secretary; and Fred Snodgrass, Treasurer.

Earlier in the semester the Club appointed a constitution committee which included Pat Wylie, Claiborne Perkins, Tim Northcott, Al Davidson and Ken Brittin. At the Jan. 9 meeting of the Executive Board of the S.G.A. the Club's constitution was unanimously approved.

Presently the officers are planning meetings for the Spring. All A.C.C. students are invited to attend Club meetings.

Bulldogs Pocket Colonial Classic; Jones, Carraway Receive Honors

BY BILL SMOAK

The Atlantic Christian College Bulldogs walked away with the trophy at the first Wilson-ACC Collegiate Invitational Basketball Tournament which was held on December 19, 20 in the Wilson Gymnasium. On Monday night, December 19 the Bulldogs met Old Dominion College from Virginia. Before the beginning of the tournament Old Dominion had defeated several Southern Conference teams. But they were helpless against the Bulldogs. On the following night the Bulldogs returned to the court to meet Georgia Southern. Last year, Southern finished second in the nation in the small college division. They too were no match for the powerful Bulldogs, as amidst great cheers, ACC walked away with all of the honors.

Following Christmas the Bulldogs traveled to Virginia to battle in the Colonial Classic Basketball Tournament. In their opening game, ACC fell behind Richmond Polytechnic Institute by 16 points in the first half. But during the second half the Bulldogs got their feet on the ground and beat RPI. In the championship game the Bulldogs were thrown against a Carolina Conference foe, High Point. ACC led all the way as they gave High Point their first loss in eleven starts, and thus the Atlantic Christian College Bulldogs won their second tournament of the season.

All of the players should be congratulated on their fine performances during these two tournaments. But special recognition should be given to Captain Larry Jones of Mt. Olive, who was chosen as the most outstanding player in the Wilson - ACC Tournament, and to Ed Carraway of Ayden, who was chosen as the most valuable player in the Colonial Classic Tournament.

East Carolina College met the Bulldogs on January 4 in the first game of the new year. Before the largest crowd thus far, the Bulldogs led by as many as 18 points in the second half. When the final buzzer sounded the Bulldogs were beating ECC by ten points.

The Bulldogs traveled to Western Carolina on the 7th. It was here where the law of averages and Henry Logan were to cause trouble, and the Bulldogs took a harsh beating, but they still held a 9-3 record.

The Bulldogs returned home to welcome to the campus the team from Pfeiffer. ACC took a small lead in the opening minutes but were trailing at half-time. The Bulldogs opened the second half in a full court press which sparked the Dogs to their tenth victory. At this season's midpoint the Bulldogs stand with as many victories as they had at the end of last year's season. This outstanding record was accomplished due to the teamwork of the ACC players, said Collegiate sports writer Bill Smoak.

The improving support by the student body has greatly improved over the past years. The next home game for the Bulldogs is against Elon on Thursday night. We lost by one point in our first game with them but a fine turnout by the student body should aid in reversing the results this time.

Boone Given BSA Honor

David W. Boone of Winston-Salem, a sophomore at Atlantic Christian College, has been elected national deputy conference chief for administration of the National Order of the Arrow. The order is the Boy Scouts of America's brotherhood of honor campers and has an active membership of more than 200,000 men and boys.

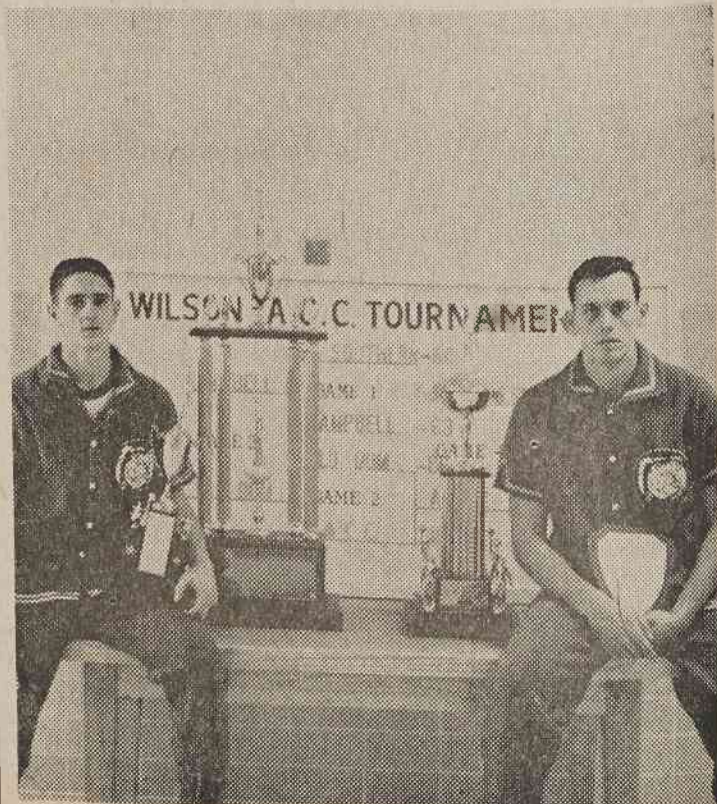

The election was held in late December at the University of Nebraska where a 45-member committee was meeting to plan the 1967 National Order of the Arrow Conference to be held at the university in late August. Boone is a member of the committee.

A biology major at ACC, he is currently serving as business manager of the campus newspaper "The Collegiate." He is a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Wayne Boone of Winston-Salem, he is a Vigil Honor member of the Order of the Arrow and has held many local offices in his community and area.
