Faculty Evaluation Officially Begun; 47 Seniors Participate In Program

The Course - Teacher Evaluation, sponsored by the Student Government Association and developed by the Faculty Evaluation Committee, officially got underway Tuesday with 47 seniors participating.

the ACC faculty. The professors were ranked by the students in order of the student's preference.

The top two, bottom two and any four in between were then ranked separately.

Satisfied

According to Rick Harrison, student chairman of the committee, the committee was "satisfied with the number of seniors who turned out for the survey."

"Interest is pretty high among the students," Harrison continued.

Questionnaire inquiries for the project include:

"Does the teacher seem to know his field?; Has the teacher helped you to develop or maintain interest in his field?"

Force

"Does he (the teacher) try to force his philosophy of religion, politics, ethics or society upon the students? Does he hold the class within the set time limits? does he 'shoot the bull' excessively?"

Also, "Does he let you know the results of tests and papers within a reasonable length of time? Is he sarcastic? Does he show a sense of humor? and Do you respect him?"

Grouped

The questions are grouped into six categories: subject matter; classroom procedure; grading and testing; student relations; personality and miscellaneous.

Three answers are provided for each question, from which the student chooses the suitable answer for the specific professor.

Harrison reported that the date for juniors to participate in the evaluation program has been tentatively set for April 4.

Students line up at the "bar" in the new soda shop located in the Student Center.

From the old Bohunk to the new snack bar, Atlantic Christian College students can't get the card bug out of their blood. But Paul Land doesn't seem to mind the situation, then again what red-blooded male student would gripe when he can play with three coeds.

P.E. Club Is Planning Area Junior Olympics

The Health and Physical Education Club is presently planning a Wilson Junior Olympics program, through which area elementary school pupils could compete in an activity similar to the World Olympics.

According to spokesmen of the campus group, the project can accomplish numerous objectives: (1) Public relations with the city; (2) provide practical experience for majors and minors in the teaching situation; (3) help the majors and minors (physical education) become closer acquainted with the different activities at the different grade levels.

The program will further: (4) demonstrate a concern for doing and not just idling; (5) show the college that there is at least one departmental group that is not covered with the mass of apathy; (6) help provide a growing interest in the elementary students to participate in physical activities; and (7) help the elementary teachers give their students more incentive to do well in the activities they have been participating in during the school year.

Frank Harper, president of the club, reported that the project "could be done in the spring and one or two small projects can be done in the fall."

Happy April Fools

Student Government President Doug Dexter seems to be enjoying April Fools Day a little early this year. He was caught in one of his more solemn moods by the Collegiate Editor's camera in the newspaper's workroom. The student staff joins the President in wishing to everyone a very happy (and safe) April's Fool Day this Monday.
