SGA Budget Passed

Two Hour Debate Required Before Decision Made

After over two hours of heated debate and discussion, the SGA Executive Board Monday night approved a $40,000 budget for the 1971-72 school year. At the outset of the meeting IFC president Ed Harris moved to appropriate $160 from the classes and give it to the three A C C student photographers as a bonus for their efforts. Confusion concerning parliamentary procedure caused a slight delay but the motion was eventually passed. The Board then resolved itself into a committee of the whole in hopes of expediting the evenings business.

Campus Christian Association president, Mike Wenger was yielded the floor and he pointed out that if the CCA budget continues to be cut back at the present rate by 1974 they wont have any budget at all. He then wanted to know why the SGA treasurer, Don Hughes had cut them back to $1000. Student Coordinator, Robbie Steen said that the administration and trustees here are doing their best to see that the students be kept spiritually high, and he moved to keep the CCA budget at $1000. Some heated debate ensued and the motion was defeated. As a result of confusion during the voting, Vice president Robert Cayton moved for a roll call vote on whether or not to keep the CCA budget at $1000. The members voted as follows

Bob Baucom	yes
Robert Cayton	no
B C Franklin	no
Robert Harris	no
Ed Harris	no
Don Hughes	yes
Tom Kiwana	no
Arthur Marks	no
Mike McIntyre	yes
Jim Sturdevant	yes
Rusty Tabb	yes
Robbie Steen	yes
Betsy Whitehead	yes
Andy Gay	no
Margie Thorpe	no
Dean Whitehurst	no
Martha Morgan	no
Kathy Lilley	yes

(note: the Board was in "committee" so Baucom and Whitehurst were able to vote.)

Steen then suggested that rather than the CCA spending $325 on a concert of religious music they should buy a collection of Mormon Tabernacle Choir records.

Arthur Marks suggested that $100 be taken from the Hamlin Student Center budget and be given to the CCA. Entertainment Committee chairman Jim Sturdevant in a surprise move offered the CCA $150 of his committee's money. Consequently the CCA ended up with a budget grant of $1250.

The Board adjourned as a committee of the whole and continued on with new business. Sturdevant moved that student fees be increased next semester from $21.50 to $25 with the $3.50 increase going for student activities in general and entertainment specifically. This motion passed and will be sent to the Student Life Committee.

Among other topics of great concern considered by the Board was a question by Ed Harris as to why the bells in the classroom building aren't functioning. Baucom said he would look into it and promised to have those bells ringing as soon as possible!

Jim Sturdevant then asked for clarification as to the policy of cancelling classes during natural disasters. He noted that it's quite dangerous walking to class while trees and limbs are falling around you. And he accused the administration of endangering the lives and health of students by not cancelling classes last Thursday during hurricane Ginger. Dean Whitehurst said that the decision whether or not to cancel classes is made by Dean Swindell, and he felt that if faculty and staff are expected to report for work then on-campus students should not be excused from classes. Pat Parvin, a guest at the meeting asked Whitehurst if he could sue the school since a tree fell on his car while attending class last Thursday. Whitehurst said that was a legal question but doubted if a suit like that would be successful.

Voter Power

Republican politicians continue to be worried about the way the youth vote is going, particularly in California, the country's most populous state, and a state Nixon captured by just 223,000 votes in 1968. The Democrats for instance, are easily winning the registration battle in this 45 electoral vote state. Nelson Rising, manager of John Tunney's successful Senate race in 1970 says there are already 700,000 newly registered under-21-year-olds. "That's 700,000 young voters already registered," he stresses, "and they are registering 3 to 1 Democratic throughout the state. Even in relatively conservative areas like Orange County, the young people are registering 2 to 1 Democrat.

Hurricane Wets Dorm

By ROSALIND MATTHEWS

Last Thursday when the results of the hurricane hit Wilson, our newest building on campus, New Women's Dorm, showed signs of premature aging.

Sixth floor residents along with other residents on different floors were privileged in having individual swimming pools. Also, our housemother was fortunate enough in having a chance to shampoo her rug.

Of course, the electricity did go off, but it did not hurt the elevator since it was already broken. To break the boredom of walking up flights of steps, one had the opportunity to examine different footprints and the different formations of mud.

When one awoke the next morning, some found they had no electricity while their neighbors did. And, for any girls wondering what shoes to wear to class so as not to ruin them, little did they realize their worry started before getting out of the dorm. On the flights of steps leading outside, one had to learn their childhood game of "hopscotch" to jump beyond the numerous scattered puddles. But to make it more difficult in playing, one could not hold onto the banisters unless she desired the "wet head look."

When the maids came on Friday and examined their days work, I wonder if they were angry at the hurricane or the dorm.
