Which Is What

Which's is longer ... a rope? Do you walk to school or carry your lunch? Who is Who? Or rather who knows who?

Pathetic, isn't it, when out of 17 chosen for The Who's Who, an average of 4 out of 17 are known by Joe College.
Even worse, those choosing the nominees, probably know an even lower ratio of those chosen. Nice, how people manage to "take care of their own." It is high time those choosing the nominees took the time to evaluate each candidate and make sure they meet the requirements. Too many worthy students are overlooked because of grades. An introvert who cares about nothing than a high GPA doesn't deserve the honor as much as a concerned student with average grades beating his brains out to help ACC keep up with the times. Just what are the qualifications for Which's What; excuse me Who's Who? Have you ever been stabbed with a gun?

Spirit

Tuesday night a scrimmage basketball game was held between ACC and Louisburg College. Coach Pomeroy and his team played really well and showed great promise for the forthcoming season.

The students at ACC should not expect a district championship, but should be encouraged by what they saw. This brings us to the point where the students can help the team the most, with support!

There is no reason why students can't come to the home games and travel to some of the out-of-town games also. With girls not having to take their night out to see a game, freshmen without cars to drive to the local bars, and a new basketball team coach and new personel to work with, our season should be a successful one.

So Monday, lets all travel to North Carolina Wesleyan College in Rocky Mount and support our Bulldogs.

Ambiguity

To The Editor:

In response to the editorial last week concerning prices in the ACC Bookstore, we would like to say that it is commendable for the students to be interested in all phases of their college life.

There is one major correction to be made in price quotations.
The Bookstore buys back a $10.00 book for $5.00 and resells it at $7.00. In other words we pay the student on the basis of 50 per cent of the new price for a used book and sell it back at 70 per cent of the new price. If you will check with other college stores all over the country, you will find that the general price structure is to pay the student 50 per cent of the list price and sell it back to the student at 75 per cent of the list, as was quoted for this store which is not our policy.

We welcome you to come in and discuss any problems you might encounter.

Poet's Corner

THE DRUNK

He sits in his lonely corner where no one can reach him because he doesn't want to get stoned

but he gets lonely and goes out with his friends and gets drunk and feels sorry for doing it after enjoying the temporary pleasure it gave him but he remembers the bittersweet, wonderful taste in his mouth so well and how it warmed him and made him feel good

ALL OVER
but things have changed since the last time the drinks never taste the same as the last time they're good but not as good as last time's

After all every bottle is different and what's left from last time has aged and no longer gives the same pleasure as before

So he goes home and cries and thinks about the drinks and the friends that he had last time

ART CORNETT

WINTER MONARCH

Cold;
So cold
That bright sun's rays
Break
On car tops
Shivering
Chill miles on frozen dust.
Dead faces lie
On brittle satin.
Dead
Under hard dry colds . . .
Too much rock;
Too much marble
Lying over Under.
But not to bend
And never to move
A graceful swan On softening rings. Solid Chunks, Unmoveable.
Red fingers
Bent in chapped permanence.
Brittle breath
Hangs in glass stillness When boys can feel their bare legs
Under shiney levis.
