NUMBER TEN

Good Evening

Dorm Closing

Dormitories will close on Wednesday, November 24, at 9:00 p.m. All dorm residents must be out of the dorms by this time. A student is not permitted to stay in the dorm over the break, with the exception of the basketball team. Dorms will re-open on Sunday night.

Poster Regulations

Students are reminded that posters may be placed only on the campus bulletin boards. They may not be placed on windows, doors, or the exteriors of any campus buildings unless special permission is granted. Persons wishing to erect banners must receive the approval of the Dean of Students. Furthermore, no poster may be placed on campus more than two weeks before the event it announces. They must be taken down within twenty-four hours after the event has taken place. The group which has placed the poster is responsible for taking it down. We would appreciate your cooperation.

Thanksgiving Worship

There will be a Thanksgiving worship service in Howard Chapel on Tuesday, November 23, at 11:00 a.m. The service will last until noon. Come to the chapel during this hour for quiet reflection, prayers, and communion. Remain as long as you wish.

Psychology Majors

All Psychology majors are asked to go by the Psychology office and pick up a questionnaire if they have not received one. This questionnaire deals with Jimmy Websters' Senior Thesis. Please go by and get one, fill it out and return it to the Psychology office.

Gospel Choir

The ACC Gospel Choir will rehearse tonight at 6:30 p.m. in Hardy Alumni Hall. The rally is due tonight.

Gamma Delta Iota

Gamma Delta Iota will meet tonight at 6:30 p.m. in Hines Hall, room 208. All members are urged to attend.

Coffee House

Friday night, November 19, there will be a coffee house in Hardy Alumni Hall from 9 to 11 p.m. It will be sponsored by the CCA. For an evening of good entertainment, go to A Thurber Carnival at 8:00, and then go to the coffee house at 9:00.

Landlords And The Law

By KEN STERN
(CPS) — It was not a pleasant ending to Mary Capito's vacation.

Mary was returning home, feeling relaxed and happy. As she loped up the stairs to her apartment, Mary made a mental note to pay her rent since it was already three days overdue. But approaching her front door, she quickly found out that wouldn't be necessary; she was greeted by a padlock and note which read, "Due to your failure to pay the rent on time, we have evicted you and have taken custody of your possessions."

Strange but true. It happens everyday in countless cities even though most states have banned the practice, whose legal moniker is "forcible entry and detainer." It may be a throwback to the days of powdered wigs and "six gun justice," but landlord hassles are still as common these days as acne, especially in student communities where the transient population causes a high rental turnover.

But relief from unscrupulous landlords is not hard to come by, if students would always keep in mind a few simple principles. The first commandment of landlord-tenant relations is, "Thou shalt always carefully read thy lease, especially the fine print." Landlords will often try and slip in outrageous responsibilities or disclaimers including provisions which allow a landlord to take all your possessions if your rent is just five days late.

One other problem area for tenants — students especially — is the gloomy region of security deposits. The biggest racket in town isn't numbers running or interstate car theft, but rather the Great American Security Deposit Swindle. In most cases, when an apartment is rented the tenant is required to place a security deposit with the landlord which is supposedly designed to cover any damage caused by the renter during the period of tenancy. The rules say this deposit will be refunded when the tenant moves on. But that's not what always happens, even if the tenant leaves the place spotless. In reality, getting your money back is about as easy as saying "no" to an insurance salesman.

Landlords realize that most people, not to mention busy, transient students, won't take legal action even if they're "stiffed" on their hard-earned cash. The landlord's modus operandi is to refund the money only after the tenant has initiated a lawsuit and seems determined to follow it through, which is one reason why legal action is so effective in this area.

Is This Ethical?

(CPS) — Patricia Wilson is dead, but her brain lies deep frozen in Oakland, California awaiting the day it might be plopped into another head in order to create another Patricia.

That, at least, was the bizarre request of Patricia's parents following the 15-year-old's violent murder in early October. They asked the Oakland coroner turn the girl's brain over to a cyronic (body preserving) organization in the hope that it can someday be "cloned" into a person exactly like their late daughter.

Cloning is the process in which scientists reconstruct an entire body through the duplication of a single cell. Since scientists have not yet perfected this technique, Patricia's brain is kept at a temperature of minus 310 degrees Fahrenheit until that scientific milestone is reached.

The girl was found on the first Sunday in October bound and beaten in a Berkeley apartment.

News Briefs

Vocal Ensemble Concert Set

The Atlantic Christian College Vocal Ensemble will present its fall concert, Monday, Nov. 22, at 8 p.m., at St. Timothy's Episcopal Church in Wilson. The ensemble will be directed by James Powers, a new member of the ACC music faculty.

Highlighting the concert will be "Te Deum in C Major," by Benjamin Britten, considered to be a glorious adaptation of the Anglican liturgy. Charles Rakow of the college music faculty and organist at St. Timothy's, will be a guest artist for the Britten anthem.

The ACC Vocal Ensemble, consisting of 16 young singers, many of which are new members, will use a different approach and present a varied program with music from eight composers, covering a wide range of musical styles.

Piano Concert Tonight

William and Thelma Sasser of Rocky Mount, duo-pianists, will be presented in concert at Atlantic Christian College tonight at 8 p.m. in the choral room of Hackney Music Building. Their appearance is being sponsored by the ACC Keyboard Festival.

The concert will feature orchestral transcriptions and works written for two pianos. Works to be featured on the program will include the Brahms "Variations on a Theme by Haydn," the Poulenc "Sonata for Two Pianos," and Brubeck's "Points on Jazz."

Profs' Works Performed

Marvin Lamb, assistant professor of music at Atlantic Christian College, had two compositions performed at a "Symposium of New Chamber Music" in Chapel Hill, on Oct. 30.

The symposium was an invitational series of concerts sponsored jointly by the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill School of Music, and the Southeastern Composers League. Composers from Virginia, Florida and North Carolina, were featured on the programs.

Works by Lamb performed were "Intonazione" for prepared tape, and three movement song cycle, "Life Cycle," for tenor voice, flute, muted trumpet and bassoon. James Powers, instructor in music at Atlantic Christian, was featured as a guest artist with the UNC New Music Ensemble on the "Life Cycle" performance.

Lamb has recently been notified that music editors of Manuscript Publications have elected to include three of his compositions in their catalog.

Faculty-Student Social Set

On Monday, November 22, at 9:00 p.m., the SGA will revive an old tradition, with a new twist. A Faculty-Student Social will be held in the Dining Hall in Hamlin Student Center.

Students are responsible for seeing that faculty members meet each other as well as students. Entertainment will be provided, and time will be set aside for conversation.

The Social, a discarded tradition, is being revived by the SGA to promote enthusiasm and a sense of togetherness in the college community.

Psychology Club Cleans Park

The Psychology Club, striving for a more congenial relationship between the college and the city of Wilson, completed its' first service project of the year, by cleaning up the Wilson City Recreation Park. Members of the club who participated were: Howard Fleming, president of the club, Candy Sambrook, secretary of the club, Karen Allen, the clubs' treasurer, Alma Weathersby, Mary Tilman, Carol Calloway, Terry Kornegay, Cindy Lindsey, Doc Tostoe, and Dana Stubbs.
