

Construction Progresses

Walking to classes in Hines Hall isn't what it used to be. Sometimes we are greeted with the appetizing stench of burning tar, other times the pleasant music of the jack hammer accompanies us, and oftentimes we are startled by the loud crash of a hunk of plaster that has been discarded from what used to be a wall or ceiling. It used to look as though the old library was being demolished rather than remodeled. Lately, however, it has begun to look more organized and the connecting wing has begun to take shape. I decided it was time to learn just what the plans are for the old building. Milton Adams, vice president, discussed the project with me and gave me a guided tour of the construction site.

The lower level of the building will house the President's office, the Academic Dean's office, Admissions, the total development program, Mr. Cleveland's office, college relations, and a conference room. The lobby will be used as a main reception area.

Chaplain Hensley's office will remain upstairs; the media center will occupy the main classroom across from it; the Disciplina collection, presently housed at 603 Lee Street, will occupy the area where the stacks were previously; and two rooms will be used as classrooms.

The present administration building will then contain Publicity, Financial Aid, printing and the Registrar's and Vice President's offices.

Connecting the two buildings will be a corridor containing two restrooms and ramps; these were built in order to comply with the state's handicap code. Most of the floor space in both buildings will be carpeted.

When asked when the project will be completed, Mr. Adam's replied, "Originally, it was to be finished in March, but I don't expect to see it done until the end of April or early May." In any case, it is a much needed improvement and certainly worth waiting for.

Eastern N.C. Regional Scholastic Art Exhibition: Approximately 130 works of art by junior and senior high school students from a 46 county region were selected to appear in the Eastern N.C. Regional Scholastic Art Award Exhibition held at Atlantic Christian College over the weekend. Among those shown viewing the entries were left to right, Rock Kershaw of Manteo, Joe Cox of Raleigh, Norbert Irvine of A.C., and Dr. Joan Gregory of Greensboro. Irvine is exhibition coordinator, while the others were among judges for the event.

"Tradition" Topic of Paulsell

Dr. William O. Paulsell, professor of religion at Atlantic Christian College, will present a lecture entitled "The Christian Contemplative Tradition," on Thursday, Feb. 15, in the choral room of the Roma Hackney Music Building, on the college campus, at 7:30 p.m.

Throughout the history of the church, from Paul to the present, Christians have attempted to describe their religious experience. The lecture will survey these efforts and examine how, in the different period of history, people have understood their own encounters with God.

Paulsell earned the B.D., M.A., and Ph.D. degrees at Vanderbilt University and the B.A. degree from Texas Christian University. He has been a member of the college faculty since 1962. His teaching field is church history. His other interests include the history of Christian spirituality, Christian monasticism, and history of the Cistercian order.

He is the author of two books: "Taste and See: A Personal Introduction to the Spiritual Life," and "Letters From a Hermit," published in 1978. He is also author of numerous magazine articles.

The lecture is sponsored by the A.C. Chapter of the American Association of University Professors and is presented in conjunction with its 1978-79 Faculty Lecture Series.

The public is invited free of charge.

Bus Stop on the Way

by Jody Jenkins

This is a note to again remind the student body that the Stage and Script production of Bus Stop is heading into Atlantic Christian College. Under the direction of Dr. Paul Crouch, the cast has been rehearsing steadily and is getting down to the serious business of putting lines to memory.

For those students who may vaguely recall the play title, this is the same story that was put to film and that starred Marilyn Monroe not so many years ago. The basic theme centers around a handsome cowboy and the beautiful danchall girl with whom he falls in love. The unlikely combination of the two provides for a tragically funny routine.

So, keep in mind, opening night is Thursday, February 22, and admission is free to all Atlantic Christian College students. Your partonage will make it worthwhile.

News Briefs

Here and There

Thousands of farmers blocked rush hour traffic with their tractors in Washington, D.C. this week protesting farm price supports. The farmers claim that their low profits and high production costs are forcing them off their farms and in return large corporations turning their family farms into big business operations. In several case, confrontations occurred between the striking farmers and police.

In Iran, Khomeini chose his prime minister while followers of the religious leader marched in the streets showing their support. On the opposite side, Bakhtiar keeps the military ready although soldiers have quit firing into the street throngs.

Also, the Defense Department is keeping a close eye on the Iran situation since there is a lot of U.S. military equipment based in Iran, some of it very sensitive. As of now, the department feels that Iran is protecting the equipment well enough.

Right now Iran has stopped producing oil for the U.S. and it is beginning to show its effect on the states. President Carter has asked the public to begin cutting back on its use.

The State Department primes itself to switch allegiance from the military government now in power to the religious leaders in case Khomeini does take over rule.

Many thanks go to the residents of Caldwell, Waters, Harper, and Wenger dormitories as well as the Sigma Sigma Sigma and Phi Mu sororities. Another example of college students making our community a better place to live.

That's Dr. Paul Crouch, to you! Dr. Crouch, of the English Department, just recently received his Doctorate. Congratulations!

On January 27 and 28, a group of students manned three telephones in the student government offices. These telephones were in support of the March of Dimes Telethon. With the assistance of AC students, the Wilson phone hook-up brought in close to $900.00.

Phyllis Parish, former Senate Pro-Tem of the SGA, was sworn into the office of Vice-President by Dr. Doster Wednesday, Feb. 7. Parish fills the seat made vacant by George Murphy, who is filling the seat of President, which was made vacant when Don Berry mysteriously disappeared last November.

Bulletin Board

This week's Green Slate incorrectly stated that the filing period for 1979-1980 SGA officers begins on February 28. The actual beginning date is Wednesday, February 14th and will end at 12:00 noon on Wednesday, Feb. 28. So start thinking NOW about which SGA office you would like to hold for the 1979-1980 school year. Candidates are needed for SGA President, Vice President, Secretary, Treasure; Class Officers (President, Vice President, Secretary-Treasure, and three senators); Campus Christian Association officers; Day Student officers; Newspaper Editor; and Yearbook Editor. Contact M. Karen Page in Hilley Hall if you need more information.

Attention All Resident Women: Room drawing for the fall and summer of 1979 will be held on Monday and Tuesday, March 12 and 13. At this time you must show your receipt for your $50 advance deposit.

Recruiting RA's for Fall 1979

All interested women should come by the Dean of Women's office and pick up an application form for Resident Assitant and sign up for an interview. The "Request for Approval of a College Function" (Social Form) must be completed and submitted to the Student Services office no later than the Monday preceding the event.

PLANNING TO TEACH? Students who plan to enter student teaching either in the Fall 1979 or Spring 1980 must make application for the Teacher Education Program and observe five days in the schools this spring. Application forms and observation forms may be obtained in the Education Department office or from Mr. Tait. Deadline is March 1.
