HAPPY NEW YEAR

Murphy Receives Honor

CP&R

WILSON -- Sandra Diane Murphy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dred Murphy, Route 2, Box 120, Stantonsburg, has been named recipient of a $500 Honors Scholarship at Atlantic Christian College.

A senior at Greene Central High School, she will enter Atlantic Christian in the fall of 1981 as a freshman and major in intermediate education.

At Green Central Miss Murphy serves as senior class president, is co-editor of "Rambler," the high school newspaper, serves as secretary of the Beta Club, and is secretary of the Varsity Singers. She is a member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, Drama Club, Ramblers, Quill and Scroll, and is a marshal.

Miss Murphy was a Morehead nominee and is listed in "Who's Who in American High School Students."

Christmas Serenade

CP&R

"It's beginning to look a lot like Christmas" --- could have definitely been the theme applied to the event that occurred in Hardy Alumni Hall, Dec. 5th, 1980. For that was the night that the Carolina Clubmen serenaded us with songs of the past (way past), songs roughly from "Sentimental Journey" to "Killing me softly" . . . Although the attendance was small, those there had a wonderful time. Special thanks goes to the members of MIA-Wia and SGA.

P.S. Special Thanks go to RayAnn Thore.

Onward Christian Soldiers

Warriors for Christian teachings are taking their arsenal onto international battlefields.

Christian apologetics, long a stuffy academic subject confined to the pulpit and seminary classrooms, is finding new devotees in the real world. Instead of being a mere "defense of the faith," apologetics is turning into a spiritual hobby for conservative Christians intent on spreading the gospel to every land.

"It's a new trend, all right," says Dr. John W. Montgomery, one of the world's leading apologists. "Perhaps it's a delayed reaction to two centuries of secular, humanistic nibbling away of Christian ideals and customs. But wherever I speak, people take notes like never before. They want reasons for their faith."

Montgomery, 48, returned October 12 from New Zealand, where he debated for the Biblical position on radio, gave a flurry of lectures in churches and university halls, and was interviewed by the country's two leading newspapers. He was also the featured speaker at the founding conference of the New Zealand Apologetic Society--one more advance in the world-wide Christian apologetics movement.

Montgomery is dean of the new Simon Greenleaf School of Law in Costa Mesa, California, a school unique in that it is also a school of apologetics. Greenleaf offers new-style courses in defending Christian truths, courses which benefit from the sophisticated techniques of legal advocacy. The school's mailing address is 2530 Shadow Ridge Lane, Orange, CA 92667.

"Today's Christians are living in a world where their beliefs and institutions are being challenged as never before," states Montgomery. "They want to learn how to meet those challenges. The New Zealand conference and the Simon Greenleaf School of Law are two more evidences that the mood of the church has changed."

Three Fellowships

P&R

The Committee on Institutional Cooperation has established three fellowship programs designed to increase the representation of members of minority groups among those who hold doctorates in the social sciences, humanities, natural sciences, mathematics and engineering.

Funded by grants from the Lilly Endowment, Inc., The Andrew W. Mellon Foundation and The John D. and Catherine T. MacArthur Foundation that total more than $3 million and from additional resources of the affiliated universities, the program will provide 25 fellowships in the social sciences, 10 in the humanities, and at least 25 in the natural sciences, mathematics and engineering for the 1981-82 academic year.

The Committee on Institutional Cooperation (CIC) is the academic consortium of the Big Ten universities and the University of Chicago, all located in the Midwest. Fellowships must be used at one of the CIC universities.

The fellowships provide full tuition plus a stipend of at least $4,500 for four academic years, provided of course that the Fellows make normal progress toward the Ph.D.

Anyone who has or will receive a bachelor's degree by September 1981 is eligible to apply for the 1981 competition. Graduate students at universities other than those of the CIC may also apply.

Students are urged to apply as early as possible in the fall; application deadline is January 15, 1981. A one-step procedure combines application for the fellowship with application for admission to any of the CIC universities on a single form.

Anyone desiring detailed information about the fellowship program should write to: CIC Minorities Fellowships Program, Kirkwood Hall 111, Indiana University, Bloomington, Indiana 47405.

Until February 1, 1981, prospective applicants from outside Indiana may call toll-free between 9:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. EST for information or application forms. The number is (800) 457-4420.

Now in its fourth year, the CIC Fellowships Program in the social sciences makes awards in anthropology, economics, geography, history, political science, psychology, and sociology.

The humanities fellowships are available to students seeking doctorates in American studies, art history, classics, comparative literature, English, German, linguistics, music, philosophy, religion, Romance languages, and Slavic languages.

Fields covered by the natural sciences, mathematics and engineering program include chemistry, biological sciences, agricultural sciences, physics, and geological sciences. We welcome inquiries concerning specific subfields.

Here's SGA....

Attention All students:

The filing period for class officers and SGA officers has begun. Anyone interested in filing for office should get a petition from the SGA office or Terry West.

The filing deadline is February 1, 1981. There will be a mandatory meeting for all candidates February 5th, 1981. Elections will be held February 29th and 30th.

FAST Success!

The ACC Fast for World Hunger held on campus November 20th was a tremendous success. Over two hundred people participated and approximately $250.00 was contributed to Church World Service. A special thanks goes to Steve Cummings for the cafeteria's contribution, which made up about half of the total contribution.

One hundred people attended the Chapel service held at 5:00 pm to begin the fast, forty people participated in the prayer-vigil which took place during the fast, and thirty-five attended the "BREAK-FAST" which brought the fast to a close. The United Campus Christian Fellowship, The Collegiate, and the Chaplain's office would like to thank all those who participated in making the fast a great success, and we wish you the merriest of Christmas seasons.

ENERGY.
We can't afford to waste it.

No Freshmen

Sophomores, juniors and seniors currently enrolled in a North Carolina college or North Carolina residents attending an out-of-state college have until February 2 to apply for the Institute of Government Summer Internship Program in state government.

Twenty-four students will be selected by an advisory committee to participate in a living-learning internship in North Carolina state government directed by the Institute of Government. The Institute of Government Interns will work from May 26 through August 7.

Students will work hours each week in a responsible position in a state department, participate in evening educational seminars and be paid approximately $130 per week.

Students interested in the program should secure a brochure announcing the program and a State of North Carolina application form from their college or
