

Here For Four Years And Still No Date?

Dear Joy,

I have been here for four years and have not as yet had a date. Please tell me what is wrong.

Hopeless Case

Dear Hopeless Case,

Perhaps you're too reserved or too much of an introvert. Be more outgoing. Don't wait for enjoyment to come. Get out and find it and, in the meantime, you're bound to find SOMEONE.

Dear Joy,

This summer I had an affair with an older man. He's unhappily married and has one child. He has promised to divorce his wife and marry me. We have agreed to fight the custody of his child. Now, I have fallen for another, I want to break off with the other man, yet, he threatens to tell my boyfriend about our "interlude." What shall I do?

How much faith do you have in the policy-making body of Bennett College? Has it initiated necessary changes on campus? From these questions the following comments were made.

"In my opinion the policy-making body has not operated satisfactorily in response to the demands made last year. If it does not act according to our wishes, then I think we should do like last year."

Ange McNeil

"I think we have been given a lot of token changes. For instance, we were given non-compulsory classes for everyone with C average or better, but then said it's up to the instructor, that doesn't make sense."

Lydia Johnson

"I never had much faith but now I don't have any. They stall for time thinking our proposals will be forgotten and there will be no one to push for them."

Patty Wynn

"Being that some student leaders have had conferences with the administration, I still have faith, although it is working ultra slowly. We have had some progress reports."

Carolyn McCrary

"I still have some faith in it, but I don't think it has initiated the necessary changes."

Minnie Monroe

Dear Frightened,

Falling for a fellow so soon after your affair with another man may indicate that you aren't ready for a steady or settled relationship with any man. Perhaps this isn't love at all. Find out--go out and meet other fellows. And by all means, get a tighter grip on your emotions. Give yourself time to mature. You certainly don't want to fall into the same bag again. As to the threats made by the other man, why not wait and see what happens there.

Dar Joy,

I am greatly attracted to one of my instructors. I think I am sexually attracted to him and he is driving me out of my mind. I can't drop the course but I feel that if he doesn't approach me soon I think I will make a fool of myself and approach him. Please, I need your advice as I am an ardent reader of your column.

On The Verge

Dear On The Verge,

Chances are if you do approach your instructor you will certainly make a FOOL of yourself. If the situation becomes unbearable however, think about the consequences of such an act--your reputation, his respect for you, and because this is a small school, malicious gossip. If this doesn't help, try talking with a person trained in counseling--someone whom you trust and whom you can talk to.

Dear Joy,

I have a terrible problem. Every time I go out with a guy whether he becomes aggressive with me or not I just develop a mad passion to go to bed with him. In other words, I can't stand to be with a guy and not have a physical relationship with him. I really don't want to stop dating but it seems I have no other choice

Overly Friendly

Dear Overly Friendly,

Avoid overly "romantic" situation, such as "sets" or private parties. Insist upon going to parties or places where there are a lot of people. In the meantime, why not seek counseling, perhaps then you can solve your problem.

Dear Joy,

Will you please inform me if there is a lonely hearts club, if so how to join.

Lonely Hearted

Dear Lonely Hearted,

No, there is no formal organized Lonely Hearts Club on our campus. But I do believe there are a lot of lonely hearts. Maybe, a few of you can get together and attack the problem. The longest journey begins with the first step.

Dear Joy,

The guy I was dating my freshman year promised me that he would go back to school. We've broken up now but he's still going back to school because of me. When I tell him we are really finished will this cause him to give up hope? See, he was doing this because I pushed him into it.

The Pusher

Dear Pusher,

Explain to the young man that although your relationship is no longer a close one, you still have his best interest at heart. Tell him that it would make you very happy if he would continue school. He will appreciate it when it's all over.

Joy

whatsoever."

Sandra Caldwell

"I think one or two problems have been solved, but we still need more changes. I haven't that much faith in the policy-making body because it is taking so long."

Shelly Weeves

"I don't have any faith because I can't see anything done to aid the students.

Deborah Roebuck

"I have very little faith. I don't think the policy-making body will work on the proposals. They will filibuster and drag on hoping we will forget about the proposals.
