During the past 18 months, 10 committees composed of Bennett faculty, staff, and administrators have been preparing self study reports about all institutional areas and programs. All the reports were compiled into one Self Study document for the SACS team examine and determine whether Bennett should be reaccredited. The report contains details about Bennett such

Dean for Academic Achievement and Retention, Mary Anne Scarlette said the preparation for the reaccreditation has been a chance for the students, staff, and faculty to engage in self evaluation.

"It's [the preparation for SACS visit] has been a chance to validate each other's fact base and to become knowledgeable on issues concerning us all as a whole."

The editor of Self Study Document and chair of Self Study Editorial Committee, Norlishia Jackson said it has been very exciting to be able review of all aspects of the college. "It [the review] brings all facets of the college community together."
