

STAFF IS GUEST OF CHATHAM CO.

Blanketeer Manager And Reporters Are Given Dinner In Winston-Salem

The Blanketeer Staff for 1933-34 were the guest of the Chatham Manufacturing Company at a dinner on August 7th, given at the Reynolds Grill. Guests included the staff and Albert Butler, R. W. Harris, W. A. Neaves, C. C. Poindexter, A. R. Plaster and Hoyt T. Hambright. Following the dinner a business meeting was held with Claudia Austin acting as chairman. A report of the past year's work was read by Robert Hartness. Mr. Butler led the discussion for the improvement of the paper and a number of helpful suggestions were adopted. Plans were made to make the paper bigger and better and to put a paper in the home of every family that works for Chatham Manufacturing Company. The staff for the coming year was then elected as follows: Editor-in-Chief, Claudia Austin; Assistant

Lucy Hanes Chatham Club Pride of Community

Started With One Member And Now Has Membership of 153

WAS ORGANIZED IN 1929

(By JOHN SAGAR)

Inasmuch as such an institution as the Lucy Hanes Chatham Club should be a matter of great pride to every member of this community, whether they are directly connected with it or not, it is with considerable satisfaction that a short history of the club, its aims and what it has already achieved, is brought to readers of this newspaper.

In 1929 Miss Claudia Austin and Miss Lorena Kelly, both members of the Centenary church, of Winston-Salem, were discussing church welfare work in which both had had considerable experience. Miss Kelly told Miss Austin that she intended to start a welfare club among the girls at the Chatham Manufacturing Co., and asked Miss Austin if she would like to take charge of it. Miss Austin readily assented, so the matter was discussed with Thurmond Chatham, who offered to do everything in his power to further the idea. As a result, Miss Austin accepted a position in the Winston office where she could come in contact with the girls. The result was that after a few months the first meeting of the club was called and one member, Miss Betty Gentry, was enrolled. At the next meeting five more members enrolled and since that time the club has grown until now the Winston club alone numbers 60 members who meet every week in their club room at the Centenary church.

Mrs. Lucy Hanes Chatham took such a profound interest in the club and did so much to further its aims that it was decided with her permission that the club should be named after her, and probably only its members can fully realize how much her kind and sincere interest and help have meant to them.

Every week classes are conducted in cooking, sewing, art, interior decorating, English and music. Each class is in charge

Southard Hits Stride With Blanketeers; Fans 45 Men In Six Games

By JOHN SAGAR

Judging by the number of people who have turned out to see the Chatham Blanketeers play baseball, and by the interest that is displayed in the team locally and in the surrounding territory, it is no news to anybody that Chatham has a first rate ball club.

Neither is it news to anyone to

WINSTON-ELKIN STAGE FIELD DAY

Large Crowd Watches Chatham's First Field Day, August 10th; Display Much Talent

Winston opened the day by defeating the Elkin Volleyball team by the scores of 15-4, 15-5 and 15-4. These three games drew a large crowd and both teams displayed a lot of real talent. The lineups for the two teams were, for Winston, Wilburn Woodruff, John Sampson, John Sappenfield, Bob Southern, Clyde Minish and Lee Ketner. For Elkin: John Francis, Clyde Day, John Austin, Walter Barnette, Dick Chatham and Tom Parker.

In the first game of the horse shoe pitching J. Goforth and Bates defeated Freman and Groce of Elkin two out of three games. Elkin won the first 23-18, Winston won the next two by the scores of 21-10 and 21-19.

The second set of doubles were won by Elkin. Hambright and Parker won over W. Goforth and Lackey by the scores of 21-18 and 21-20.

Winston won the first single match when Sappenfield defeated Parker of Elkin 21-15 and 21-9.

Elkin won the next single match after a hard battle. Freeman of Elkin defeated W. Goforth by the scores of 21-15 and 21-12. Goforth won the second game 21-12.

In the diamond ball game Winston defeated Elkin by the score of 2-0. Taylor for Winston hit a long home run in the first inning to finish all the scoring for the evening. This game was called at the beginning of the 5th inning to let the Varsity teams have the field.

There was a lot of interest and pep displayed during these games. Both Elkin and Winston are looking forward to the date of the next meetings between these teams.

Girls Are Enjoying Swimming Classes

There has been a lot of interest shown in the swimming classes that are held twice a week in the high school pool. The classes are held each Wednesday and Friday nights from six to seven o'clock.

Canada is larger than the United States and Alaska combined.
