

FUNERAL IS HELD FOR W. W. GOUGH

Former Yadkin County Man Dies Suddenly Tuesday Morning After Period of Bad Health

Funeral services for William Henry Gough, 66, who died suddenly in Winston-Salem Tuesday morning, were conducted from the home on West End Boulevard at 10 o'clock Thursday morning, and at Deep Creek Baptist church in Yadkin county at 11 o'clock, interment followed in the church graveyard. Rev. Charles H. Stevens and Rev. Stanley S. May had charge of the services.

Although a native of Yadkin county, Mr. Gough had made his home in Winston-Salem for the past 15 years. He had been in declining health for six months, but apparently was better Tuesday morning when he went out on the porch. He suddenly collapsed, dying within a few minutes.

He was a carpenter by trade. Since moving to this city he had joined Salem Baptist church and was a faithful member.

Surviving him are his wife, who before marriage was Miss Mary Williams, five daughters: Mrs. Clinton Reeves, of Rockford; Mrs. J. H. Templeton, of Danville, Va.; and Misses Rebecca, Ruby and Lucille Gough, all of Winston; six sons: Anderson Gough, of Jonesville; T. H. Gough, of Florida; W. W. Gough, of Mount Airy; H. L., C. V., and T. J. Gough, all of Winston-Salem. Twelve grandchildren, one sister, Mrs. Mary Spillman, of Cooleemee, two brothers, Miles Gough, of Yadkin and Doc Gough, of Anderson, Ind., also survive.

Pallbearers were members of his Sunday school class.

"Old Rugged Cross" Most Popular Hymn

Over a nation-wide radio hook-up "Seth Parker" one Sunday night asked his listeners to send in the name of their favorite hymns. This is a list of the ten hymns receiving the highest vote:

"The Old Rugged Cross", 26,671; "Nearer, My God To Thee", 20,688; "Abide With Me", 20,316; "Lead Kindly Light", 19,935; "Rock of Ages", 16,880; "Jesus Lover of My Soul", 15,235; "In the Garden", 14,789; "Onward Christian Soldiers", 13,779; "Little Brown Church", 11,274; "Let the Lower Lights Be Burning", 9,784.

American Worker Most Productive In the World

Income Produced Widely Spread Among All Classes of Population; Wages 85 Per Cent of National Income

Observation shows that the productivity of the American worker, reinforced with power and with improved machinery, is the greatest in the world, and that the income thus produced has been widely spread among all classes of the population.

If this were not the case, the widespread distribution of millions of automobiles, electricity, refrigerators, telephones, radios and individually owned houses would have proved impossible. There would not have been the money to purchase them.

On the face of things, the absurdity of the mis-statements that 2 per cent of the people receive 60 to 80 per cent of our national income is apparent.

As a matter of fact, if such a poor distribution of wealth existed, the very mass-production and mass-consumption of goods, in which the United States has led foreign countries, would have been impossible. Our great plants, our millions of employed workers would have been impossible.

In other words, the soap-box craters, who have been poisoning the public mind with false statistics, have been trying to explain away a plain truth.

And this truth is almost directly opposed to the false doctrines which they preach.

As the Brookings Institute of Washington has reported, those who work for a living receive as wages about 85 per cent of all the national income.

The remaining 15 per cent goes as a return on capital investments MORE THAN HALF of which is owned by INDIVIDUALS OF MODERATE INCOME who own the stock in our corporations. Some corporations have more small stockholders than employees.

The figures are proved by a study of the Federal income tax statistics.

As a matter of fact, those receiving incomes of $5,000 a year or more in 1933 got less than 10 per cent of the entire national income.

Those with incomes above $100,000 in 1932 and 1933 had less than 1 per cent of the national income.

It has further been figured that if in 1933 the entire income of all those receiving five thousand dollars and more had been confiscated by the government and redistributed evenly to the remaining 120,000,000 persons, each person would have received only $35 more each year.

Our real job is not of redividing national income, but of increasing the total of our wealth so that we will have more to divide. American experience shows that most of the increases in our national income will go into wages.

Before wealth can be distributed it must first be created. Every employed worker is a partner in the creation of this wealth. And any experiment which holds back recovery prevents the creation of new national wealth, cuts the returns to the employee and employer alike, leaves us less wealth to share, and prevents the return of the jobless to regular employment.

Be A Good Forgetter

Be a good forgetter. Life is too short to remember that which prevents one from doing his best. "Forgetting the things that are behind, I press forward," said a brave old man in the first century. The successful man forgets. He knows the past is irrevocable. He lets the dead past bury its dead. He is running a race. He cannot afford to look behind. His eye is on the winning post. The magnanimous man forgets. He is too big to let little things disturb him. He forgets quickly and forgets easily. If anyone does him wrong, he "considers the source" and keeps sweet. It is only the small man who cherishes a low revenge. Be a good forgetter. Business dictates it, and success demands it.

BLANKETEERS WIN 4 AND TIE 1

Defeat Lenoir, Duke Power, Greyhound Travelers and Thomasville Chair Co.; Tie Mojuds

The Chatham Blanketeers ended a big week in baseball circles Saturday with a win over Thomasville Chair Company to give them a total of four wins and one tie for the week.

Taking the games in order, the scores were: Tuesday, Lenoir, 15-0; Wednesday, Duke Power Co., High Point, 8-3; Thursday, Greyhound Travelers, 3-2; Friday, Mojuds, Greensboro, 9-9; and Saturday, Thomasville Chair company, 12-6.

The night game with the Travelers went 12 innings before the Blanketeers eked out a win. Friday night, in a second night affair with Mock-Judson at Greensboro, the game continued 14 innings and was then called at 9-9 due to the lateness of the hour.

In the Lenoir game Tuesday, one of a series in the Charlotte Observer semi-pro tournament, the Blanketeers knocked the boards off the fence with three homers, three triples and three doubles. Homers were by Weston, Clodfelter and H. Hambright; triples by Cornelius and Weston, and doubles by H. and F. Hambright and Mackie.

Thursday night's game with the Travelers was a pitchers' duel with Stockton and Rumble gaining the decision over Fair Swaim, the game being one of the finest amateur exhibitions ever witnessed in Winston-Salem. It was anybody's game until West lifted a short fly to Clodfelter in the infield in the 12th inning to end the contest.

Friday night at Greensboro the Mojuds were leading 9-6 in the ninth inning when Chatham scored three runs to tie the score. After that neither team could break the tie and the game was finally called.

A feature of the game was Weston's great catch of a fly at center which averted defeat for Chatham.

Cornelius garnered a homer for the Blanketeers with two men on. Saturday, in the game with Thomasville, Davis and Clodfelter led the hitting with three for four each.
