Miss Snow is employed in Ecusta main office and Mr. Johnson is in the Traffic Department of Ecusta.

Your Guide To Daily Living

From Washington Bureau

PARACHUTES INTO PANTS—Several hundred thousand yards of nylon fabric that didn't come up to the army specifications for parachutes are being made up into baby pants and women's underwear.

STRICTLY G. I.—When a soldier goes to the post exchange to pick out a present for his mother or his wife or his girl friend, the chances are he'll choose a pillow top bearing the name of his camp or a pin with his military insignie. From the Southwest Pacific, he's likely to send a grass skirt. In Africa, he'll buy native jewelry, carved ivory or snakeskins.

PAPER SHORTAGE — You'll soon begin to notice the effects of the paper shortage in thinner writing and wrapping paper.

FASHION NOTE—Nearly everything a soldier wears, including his underwear, has to be dyed khaki. Reason: white clothes drying outdoors make too good targets for enemy planes. That's why pale colors are going to be more fashionable for civilians this winter than they have been in many a season.

SPENDING TAXES — There's a fair chance that next year we'll be paying some sort of graduated spending tax. Such a tax could take any one of a number of forms, but its net effect in any case would be to raise your taxes in proportion to the money you spend on things you don't need.

There are approximately 547 persons per square mile in Puerto Rico.

More than a million pounds of beeswax a year needed for use in war products, adhesives, waterproofing for shells, belts, machinery, and protective covering for fighting planes.

Weds In Greenville

Mrs. Glen Thompson, who was before her recent marriage in Greenville, S. C., Miss Oberia Revis. She works in Endless Belt.

Miss Oberia Revis And Cpl. Thompson Married Recently

Miss Oberia Revis and Cpl. Glen Thompson were married in a simple ceremony in Greenville, S. C., on September 25, 1943, in the presence of a few close friends.

The bride wore a wool tailored suit of soldier blue and accessories of luggage. Her corsage was of Sweetheart roses.

Mrs. Thompson is the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Revis, of Etowah, and a graduate of Etowah high school. For the past four years she has been employed in Endless Belt.

Cpl. Thompson, now in the coast patrol at Virginia Beach, was formerly riding instructor at Castle Park, Mich.

TIMESAVERS

EASY SIFTING—When sifting flour the several times necessary in making a cake, use two paper plates, which in between bakings may be kept in a flour bin. They bend easily, less flour is spilled.—G. R., Texas.

MELTING CHOCOLATE— If a recipe calls for melted chocolate, I melt it in the shortening. No more waiting for it to melt slowly over a teakettle top, with most of it sticking to the saucer. — L. V., Wisconsin.

BUTTON HELP — Four-eyelet buttons will stay on longer, especially on children's clothes, if the thread is sewed through two eyelets first and then fastened, before sewing through the other two. — Mrs. F. M., Penna.

MASHED POTATOES — When mashed potatoes are planned for dinner, I mash them 15 minutes before serving time, pile them in a greased casserole, dot them with butter and place in a moderate oven. By this method potato mashing is out of the way before the last minute rush and the casserole keeps them piping hot until we are ready for a second helping.—N. N., Michigan.

The surface of the moon contains 14,657,000 square miles.

Now In Kentucky

Pvt. Birdell Monteith, formerly in the Finishing Department at Ecusta, is now stationed at the WAC branch in Richmond, Ky. Pvt. Monteith left for military service July 3, 1943.

A recent survey indicates that the average city housewife wastes more than three-fourths of a pound of food for each individual every day. The highest waste is in perishable fruits and vegetables.

The fall Irish potato crop is estimated to be 73 million bushels over last year's crop, sufficient to meet all military needs and leave a larger supply than usual for civilians.

Now Is The Time To Dig peanuts.

Plan meals wisely.
Do the chores before supper.
Pull carrots and aching teeth.
Overhaul the pancake griddle.

Set out lily-of-the-valley clumps.
Admire the color of autumn leaves.

Get those comfortable shoes re-soled.

Plant tree seeds—walnut, hickory, etc.

Order some fruit trees for fall planting.

Ask your neighbor: "Heard any funny stories lately?"

Buy fire protection—ladders, fire extinguishers, water under pressure, insurance. Fire's a hard master.

Beauty On The Job

Might as well face it, you girls who are working must go in for a more rigid and faithful beauty routine than you kept when you were ladies of leisure. Your skin and you hands are taking a beating all the time you're on the job, so you must acquire new beauty habits to ward off the ill effects.

Cleanliness is the first essential... protection is the second.

The millions of flying particles of dust and abrasives that fill the air is the chief enemy to a clear, soft, fine-textured skin. That means you must apply protectives to help ward off the coarsening effects of the dust-filled air.

Here's the daily routine to follow. And don't miss even once, if you can help it. At night, cleanse your skin with a good rich cream. Don't just pat it on and then wipe right off... leave cream on for several minutes and work it well into the skin. This will tend to loosen the dirt particles and make them easier to wipe off the skin. Then wash with a mild soap, working up a good lather. Maybe you think this is too much of a good thing, using both a cream and a soap-and-water cleansing. But the soap cleansing is a grand skin clarifier. It removes all traces of soiled cream that might be lurking in the mouth of the pores. And every time you fail to remove ALL the soil, it tends to give your skin a dingy look. So cleanse and cleanse again.

After your night cleansing... or what serves for your sleeping or resting time, if you're on graveyard... spread a light lubricating cream over your skin to help soften and smooth.

Come morning, wash your skin with a pad of cotton wrung out of skin freshener. This removes all trace of last night's cream from the skin... serves as a waker-upper and a toner for the complexion... makes you feel peppy, gives your skin a sparkling freshness.

The next vital step is a foundation, and this is important at all times, even if you are not going to use a face powder. It protects your skin from dirt and grime, helps to prevent clogged pore openings and surface blackheads. Make sure your foundation is a protective one... and choose one that matches your skin tone, for it will help to camouflage surface blemishes and tiny lines.

During the day, cleanse your skin on every relief period. Wash off the soiled cream with skin freshener and apply fresh foundation. You may think this is going to a lot of trouble, but you'll reap
