

Ecusta Carpenter Shop Is Active Place

THEY HELP TO KEEP MILL IN OPERATION

DOORS, WINDOWS AND WIRE SCREENS REQUIRE REPAIRS

Carpenter Shop Is Fully Equipped; Bub Thompson Directs Crew of Workmen

A person might wonder what a paper mill needs a carpenter shop for. This is why:

In the course of a year, we use several carloads of lumber for export shipping crates, skids, car building, building maintenance, etc. Even though our buildings are

At top is a view of the Maintenance Department's very busy carpentry shop. This department takes an active part in the construction of the plant and now devotes a major part of its time and effort in helping to keep the mill in operation.

In the center is Charlie Allison operating the shop's band saw. This very efficient power saw cuts angles, circles, etc., according to a jig saw.

At the bottom is Clarence Allison running a rip and cut-off saw.

and concrete, they have hundreds of wooden doors, windows and wire screens that require repair. In addition, carpenters must be available to set up scaffolds and shoring necessary for this type of maintenance.

The carpenter shop is equipped with power saws, planer, etc., and a capable crew of carpenters under the direction of Bub Thompson, who helped build the mill, and the first carpenter on Ecusta's staff.

The pictures show a view of the shop with everything running smoothly, with Thompson standing in the rear, Charlie Allison at the band saw and Clarence Allison at the cutoff saw.

ROBERT S. DALTON, 36, DIES IN ASHEVILLE

Robert S. Dalton, 36, employee of the Millwrighting Dept., died June 5 in the Hospital. A heart ailment caused his death. His home was at Route 1. Mrs. Harriet Dalton was once employed in Finish-up Dept. Mr. Dalton was well-liked and many friends will regret his passing.

NOTICE

Sometime ago we had a notice in the Echo that changes would not be permitted in withholding exemption certificates after July 1st. The new revenue act which has been passed permits the employer to continue making changes in withholding certificates.

We would also like to call your attention to the fact that when you have a new child, its name must be added to your Hospital Saving Certificate in order for the child to be enrolled.

Stop by the Personnel Office and make the necessary changes in your tax withholding certificate and your hospital certificate when a new dependent is added to your family.

—Personnel Office

