

BOOK CORNER

By LUCILLE HEFFNER

"A good book is the best of friends, the same today and forever."
—M. F. Tupper.

If all the ghosts and goblins don't play too many pranks on you tonight and you have to spend next week scrubbing soap off windows, we have some new books to tell you about. Our first is a James Hilton production.

We're sure that you remember, with excitement, moments in "Mrs. Miniver", "So Well Remembered" and "Lost Horizon". Hilton's novel is called "Nothing So Strange". It is the story of two modern people—a young American, who both as a scientist and as a man, is faced by life's greatest problems; and the girl who gave him all her heart and brain.

Jane was only eighteen when she met Dr. Bradley. Both she and her mother were attracted to him and the situation thus engendered proved fateful, since it led to the doctor's association with a great Viennese physicist and to involvement in a tragic drama. Jane's love weaves the story into a pattern of deeply moving and significant events. Exciting and human as are all of Hilton's stories, you'll not want to miss "Nothing So Strange."

The world's most romantic age, told in magnificent splendor, is set alive in Lion Feuchtwanger's "Proud Destiny". Here is the glittering pomp and elegance of Marie Antoinette's court, where amorous courtiers, spying servants, conspiring diplomats and frivolous women play the game of royalty.

Moving among them all is the towering figure of Benjamin Franklin, pitting his wits and wisdom against fading monarchy to win arms and money for the American Revolution. In one sentence it is—a vast and stirring story of the empire whose dying fires lighted the new world. Ask for "Proud Destiny."

We again want to remind you of the best sellers, according to The New York Times Book Review, that are on our shelves. "The Moneyman", Costain; "Prince of Foxes", Shellabarger; "Gentleman's Agreement", Hobson; "The Vixens", Yerby; "Kingsblood Royal", Lewis; "The Harder They Fall", Schulberg; "The Bright Promise", Sherman; "Proud Destiny", Feuchtwanger and "The Big Sky", Guthrie.

Next month we hope to have a list of new books. Watch this column!

EDUCATION IS A LOT OF THINGS

The day after the circus came to town, a teacher of the first grade received the following excuse for the absence of one of her pupils:

"Dear Teacher: Education, you know, is a lot of things. It is reading and writing and ciphering. It is 'Yes, please' and 'Yes, thanks' and 'No, thank you.' It is the washing of hands and the use of forks. It is pencils and scissors and paste and erasers and chalk dust. It is the smell of a schoolroom early Monday morning. It is the excitement of vacations. It is autumn bonfires and sleds and puddle-wading.

"Yes, education is a lot of things. It is a brass band blaring and a calliope tootling. Education is a woman shot from a gun, a man on a tightrope, a seal playing a tune with his nose. It is sideshow barkers, clowns, lions, cotton candy, cowboys and spangles. Education is the wonderment of new things and new sensations. It is in short, a circus!

"That's why Ginger wasn't in your classroom yesterday. Excuse it, please."

Rule Changes In

to 60 feet, instead of 55. The uniforms will be of the same color. Formerly, the pitcher was required to wear black. If the catcher desires to receive an intentional pass, he may stand anywhere within the lines of the catcher's box. The fourth rule recommended was that the batter's box will return to 3 feet by six.

Champagne Printing Church Bulletins

A neat, cleanly-printed church bulletin adds much to the dignity and success of a worship program. Contributing its part to the Sunday morning worship hours of the churches in this community is our Champagne Job Printing department which is printing the church bulletins for four churches in this section.

The churches now benefiting from this public service of our company are the First Methodist church of Brevard, the Rev. Wilbur G. McFarland, pastor; the Little River Baptist church, the Rev. F. M. Barnes, pastor; the Presbyterian church of Brevard, the Rev. Walter P. Baldwin, pastor; the First Baptist church of Brevard, the Rev. B. W. Thomason, pastor.

New offset printing equipment recently purchased by Champagne enable it to produce a printed bulletin which is much more attractive than a mimeograph bulletin. The pastors have expressed their appreciation for this service as it not only gives them a better printed bulletin, but relieves them of the job, or at least seeing that someone else does it.

Mr. L. D. Maney Dies

Ecusta lost a valued employee recently when Mr. Lorenzo D. Maney passed away at the age of 66, after an illness of six weeks. Mr. Maney came to Ecusta in 1942 as a member of the Accounting department. In a quiet, easy-going manner, Mr. Maney won the respect and affection of all his fellow workers and acquaintances, both at the Fibre warehouse and in the Main office. Prior to coming here, he was purchasing agent for Buncombe county, and was very active in educational and church life in Asheville. He was one of the leaders in a movement some years ago to establish a junior college in Asheville—a movement which resulted in the founding of Asheville-Buncombe more junior college.

To the family, and especially to Bob, Mr. Maney's son, who was employed in the Main Office, we wish to express our deepest sympathy in their recent bereavement. Replacing a man with the qualities and character of Mr. Maney will not be easy.

Warning To Parkers

In an effort to prevent congestion in front of the plant, thus lessening the possibility of accidents, the North Carolina State Highway Patrol has asked that no cars be parked across the road on the west side of the highway. In the future, cars which are found parked on that side will be tagged, the Highway Department warns. Your co-operation is asked in this matter.
