

Neither of the Mary Jane McCalls knew she had a "partner" employed here.

'DOUBLE IDENTITY'

It's a case of "double identity" with many folks here at Ecusta. A glance through the personnel records reveals that fact that no less than 22 couples have the same name.

Some are kin; some are no relation whatsoever; others do not go by the names listed below, but rather are known by the other half of their name or known by nicknames. Anyhow, it's interesting to see how many we have and it was also interesting to find out that some did not know that there was anyone else employed here with the same name as theirs. Some are sisters-in-law, while others are as close kin as cousins.

Those in the "double identity" group and their departments are Bessie Cheek, Cafeteria and Finishing; Ralph Smith, both in Inspection; Carl Bryson, Maintenance and Machine Room; Anne Whitaker, Machine Booklet and Fine Paper; Robert Merrill, Cleaner Crew and Maintenance; Samuel King, Machine Room and Refining;

Thomas Smith, Main Office

The Dewey Winchesters knew each other, of course, since they are cousins.

TELEPHONE CONVERSATION

Out of the numerous calls which come to the Personnel Office, the one related below took the prize during the last month.

"I want to speak to my daddy", the child's voice at the other end of the line requested.

Could I take a message or help you in any other way?" the clerk in the Personnel Office answered.

"Well, I can't find the dog food and I don't know what to feed my puppy," the little voice continued.

Realizing that she was speaking to a child, the clerk suggested that she feed the puppy some milk.

"That's what I'll do. We always do that when we can't find the dog food . . . and I'll put some corn bread in it, too. Thank you very much."

And she hung up.

Good will flows irresistably to the man who successfully manages his own affairs, who is self reliant and independent, yet who is considerate always of the rights and needs of others.— Thomas E. Dewey.

and Finishing; Dewey Winchester, Electric Shop and Pulp Mill; Frank Fisher, Fibre Warehouse and Landscape; Ed Fowler, Maintenance and Cleaner Crew; Earl Garren, both in Rewinder Service; Frederick McCall, Police and Refining; John Smith, Finishing and Champagne; Virginia Stepp, Finishing and Main Office; Mary Jane McCall, Finishing and Engineering Office.

Tom McCall, Cleaner Crew and Inspection; Charles Orr, Refining and Inspection; Clyde Orr, Inspection and Beater Room Control; William Rogers, Control and Champagne; William Sentelle, Engineering Office and Inspection; Charles Allison, Maintenance and Pulp Mill; Clarence Allison, Power and Maintenance.