

Machine Room Is Out In Front . . . .

The fighting Machine Room nine, derailed last year by Control, has come back strong this season in the Interdepartmental Baseball League, and promises to make the other clubs live hard in league battles. In its first two games, the Machine Room club polished off Control 13-10 and took Champagne, 5-4.

The race for top honors this year promises to be the closest since the loop was started. All clubs are stronger and the margin between the top and bottom clubs in the standings will most likely be slim all season long.

In the opening game, the Generals defeated Champagne, 7-6, but decision on the game has been withheld pending a decision by league officials on a disputed play.

The schedule for June:

June 2	.....	Champagne vs. Machine Room
June 7	.....	Generals vs. Machine Room
June 9	.....	Champagne vs. Control
June 14	.....	Generals vs. Champagne
June 16	.....	Machine Room vs. Control
June 21	.....	Champagne vs. Machine Room
June 23	.....	Generals vs. Control
June 28	.....	Champagne vs. Control
June 30	.....	Generals vs. Machine Room

When Grover Cleveland saw the New York Nationals play baseball he was amazed at both their size and strength. He likened them to "Giants" and the name has stuck ever since.

Three presidents of the United States died on the nation's birthday, July 4—John Adams, Thomas Jefferson, and James Monroe. Only one—Calvin Coolidge—was born on that day.

Mr. George Huskamp was the first pitcher to toe the rubber as he threw out the first pitch to raise the curtain on the Interdepartmental baseball season, Monday, May 3. The two opposing teams, Generals, left, and Champagne, right, look on, perhaps with the thought of adding Righthander Huskamp to their roster when the going gets tough. Hugh Bradburn, league president, is shown beside Mr. Huskamp.
