DIET DATA

Here are a couple of hints that will save you both expense and time. You can get more whipped cream for each portion of regular cream by beating the egg whites stiff and then whip them into the cream. If the cream is too thin to whip stiff, a teaspoon of lime-water added to a pint of cream will turn the trick. Also, if you are having trouble in keeping rice grains from sticking together when cooking, try adding a teaspoon of lemon juice for each quart of water used.

A pastry flour now used in Switzerland contains 50% dried fruit, the rest being made up of wheat flour, fruit and other sugars, nuts and skim milk.

Weight for weight, potatoes have one fourth as much vitamin C as do oranges.

Eating the small bones of sardines and canned salmon adds calcium to the body.
