

Safety for

With "happiness in the home" dependent as it is upon the prevention of personal injuries on the job, each of us should be 100 per cent behind the safety program. Our personnel as a whole should always strive to stay accident-free, as well as to continuously caution their co-workers about the folly of indulging in unsafe practices.

To go home from work without having had a personal injury is a joyous feeling . . . to realize that our safe acts have eliminated grief and worry for our loved ones, should incite us to stay safety conscious . . . to know that our paycheck will not be decreased through a careless act, should be an incentive to us at all times.

If there is any doubt in your mind about accident prevention on the job meaning happiness in the home, then just ask someone who has been injured.

FALLS ARE DANGEROUS

Fatalities due to falls each year are enormous, not to mention injuries by the millions.

Minor, serious, even fatal injuries are caused in offices by falls from chairs and boxes . . . falls down-stairs, and even up-stairs . . . falls over desk drawers left open . . . falls from tripping or sliding on things which don't belong on the floor.

And of course, no lady will, and no gentlemen should, lean way back in an office chair.
