FUNDAMENTAL RESEARCH DEPARTMENT
APPLIED RESEARCH DEPARTMENT
ANALYTICAL LABORATORY

These departments are housed in modern laboratory buildings. The staff is well equipped to conduct research in numerous branches of pure and applied science. All problems of a technological nature are their concern. They handle matters pertaining to waste utilization, development of new pulp and papermaking processes, new products, new uses for old products, and the like. It is the policy of the company to use every resource of science to insure that our products are the very best available.
