

BOB BROWN'S SCIENCE CIRCUS

Bob Brown, nationally known entertainer and science writer, will bring his science circus to the Cafeteria on Saturday night, September 22nd, at 8:30 P. M.

This is the first program of this type presented by the Recreation Department, and they assure you of an evening of interesting entertainment. Assistants from the audience will help in presenting a program of high voltage fun for all ages. Mr. Brown will have 1200 pounds of unusual electric equipment that will make the stage look like a movie set.

Following are some comments made about the show: "Funniest of Science Shows."—TALENT. "Keyed to a high pitch of excitement . . . Brown has a gift for wrapping his whole show in comedy."—ASHEVILLE CITIZEN-TIMES. "One of the most electrifying personalities in television . . . can illustrate and discuss with equal facility the effects of helium, high voltage electricity, gamma rays, and atomic theory."—TELEVISION FORECAST. "Unbelievable feats."—POPLAR BLUFF (Mo.) Jr. Chamber of Commerce. "You'll laugh and be mystified by demonstrations of odd as well as basic scientific facts."—UNIV. OF MINNESOTA. "Unusual, attractive, suitable for club programs, public school assemblies, etc. Educational as well as excellent from an entertainment point of view."—KIWANIS INTERNATIONAL. "Excellent. Humorous and entertaining as well as instructive."—FORT FRANCES, ONTARIO.
