To everyone who yearns for spring we have just the book. For here is "a lot of sweet spring-time, 17,000 miles worth," the story of a thrilling journey from Florida to Canada, pacing the spring northward, with fascinating descriptions of people and places visited—and always the singing of birds, in your ears, the perfume of wild flowers in your nostrils and the warmth of the sun on your back. This unusual and appealing book was written by Edwin Way Teale. NORTH WITH THE SPRING has 32 pages of Teale photographs and a superb travel map.

The new novel by Jean Stafford is a literary event of the very first importance. When her first novel, Boston Adventure, appeared in 1944, she was immediately recognized by Christopher Morley as a writer who "will go a long way, and take with her readers worth having." Her novel, THE CATHERINE WHEEL, tells of one summer in the life of Katherine Congreve, who must choose between a runaway marriage with her secret love and her continued devotion to his family. Though the setting is Maine, the characters have their roots in Boston. It is a love story of mammoth proportions.

The Confederacy lives again in a new and beautiful volume, A PICTORIAL HISTORY OF THE CONFEDERACY. Hundreds of historic pictures tell the whole gallant tale from Fort Sumter to Appomatox, in authentic photographs, paintings, drawings, prints, posters, newspaper pages and popular songs of the Confederacy. This handsome volume, edited by Lamont Buchanan, contains a wealth of valuable material.

Dr. Peter Marshall, widely acclaimed Protestant minister, and former Senate Chaplain, compiled a number of his sermons and prayers into a powerful volume—MR. JONES, MEET THE MASTER. All who read this outstanding book found inspiration and hope therein.

Dr. Marshall's widow, Catherine Marshall, tells her husband's story and their life together in A MAN CALLED PETER. The opportunity to relive the life of Dr. Peter Marshall through this book is a rare and unforgettable experience, for he was truly an unusual and memorable man. His inspirational leadership has made its mark on countless thousands. This book contains six complete sermons and six prayers as well as excerpts from other sermons and prayers not previously published. In these troubled times, A MAN CALLED PETER should receive a warm welcome.

A badly frightened woman pounded on the door of the cabin where Perry Mason was vacationing. The woman said, "I'm in trouble, in terrible trouble. I have to talk with you . . . everything depends on it." Thus we set out on another bewildering murder case with Erle Stanley Gardner's Perry Mason in THE CASE OF THE ANGRY MOURNER. It's new! It's different! It's a Perry Mason Mystery!

Have you seen any birds of spring this year? Did you know their names? Where do they nest? What do they eat? What color are their eggs?

In the Library you can find these answers easily in two beautiful books — one — TRAVELING WITH THE BIRDS and the other—THE BIRDS AT HOME. We are sure that you will find that these brightly colored books are just what you need to identify the birds that you have seen and will see as the spring days come.
