NEW IDEAS

Silver Spray Extinguisher does not have to be pumped or aimed at a fire; nor does anyone have to be around to set it off. Mounted on the wall or suspended from the ceiling, the neatly styled device reacts automatically to a fire in its vicinity. They are suitable for home installations, particularly in basements, attics, and storage rooms.

Home Intercom—If you are upstairs and want to talk to the children in their downstairs play room, push a button and talk. They, in turn, can answer you from any part of the room—without touching or even approaching their station. When the doorbell rings, you can ask "Who's there?" from any part of the house.

Light Shield—An improved Projecta-Lite shield for automobile and truck headlights is designed to reduce headlamp glare and to prevent light-spill by directing the beam downward. The clear bulls-eye in the center concentrates and magnifies the light on the road ahead.

Spot Remover That Is Not a Liquid is rubbed on and then brushed off. Called the Janie Spot Eraser, the product is said to be able to remove grease or food spots from worsteds, wools, velvets, flannels, rugs, and tapestry.
