

AYS GRACE! . . .

What can be done about it? . . . What are we as parents and operators of motor-vehicles going to do about it?

First of all, we can teach these tots that safety is for their sake . . . that it is a condition under which they will live longer and suffer less . . . that their safety means more to them as individuals, than to anyone else on earth . . . and that it will assure them of living and having fun, and of growing up into men and women and taking their rightful place in the World.

Next, we can and should caution operators of motor-vehicles to use care, caution and common sense at all times, and as we preach this safe practice, lets not forget to practice what we preach. We should all resolve to do our utmost to see that these kids do live and have fun . . . that they do grow up to become men and women . . . and that they are given the same consideration that we would wish our own kids to have. Remember that they will be playing on the way to and from school . . . that they will thoughtlessly dart out from behind some parked car or hedgerow . . . and that our greatest desire should be that WE refrain from contributing to the breaking of even one small bone in their body.
