

Above: Some of the youngsters watched boxing matches with mixed emotions. From the expression on the face of the lad in the fancy T-shirt, it might reasonably be supposed that one of the boxers had just connected with a real haymaker.

Right: Bingo proved to be one of the most popular attraction at the picnic. Eddie Moss is shown calling out the numbers while everyone else, intent on winning one of the prizes which were given, keeps a close watch on their cards.

Below: Walter Robinson of Cafeteria quenched many a thirst with cups of cool lemonade. He was especially popular with the youngsters, particularly with the ones who had been playing baseball and those who had been eating popcorn.

END . .