

THE CELLO-MECK MIRACLE- WORKERS

On the left are the members of the red-hot Cello-Mecks bowling team, definite contenders for the league's championship this season.

The Cello-Mecks, lead by Captain Charles Link, turned in an amazing record of 23 wins out of 24 games bowled between October 10 and November 28. This brought them from sixth place to first in the league. Left to right: Willard Sammis, Carrol Fletcher, Jack Bryson, Leonard Cousins, Linton Lanning and Charles Link.

THE HOT-RODDERS OF TRANSPORTATION

Another team definitely in the running for the championship is the one shown to the left. At this writing, the Hot-Rodders were only three games behind the Cello-Mecks and were moving up fast. Guided by Captain Jim Metcalf, this team won 13 out of 15 games in a five-week's period, proving they're championship material.

Captain Jim Metcalf of Transportation and Harvey Souther, pilot of the Pirates, are pictured on the right shaking hands at the close of their match on November 28. Though the Pirates won, 2 to 1, Jim served notice that the Hot-Rodders would be gunning for the Pirates when they meet next time. Jim had this to say: "They beat us, sure, but wait 'til next time!"
