

COMES TO ECUSTA . . .

Top left: The Cellophane Division's Stenographic Pool got the jump on the other Departments with their Christmas party. Theirs was held on Friday, December 19 in the Cellophane Office.

Lower left: The Main Office group enjoyed many a laugh at their Christmas Party when the gifts were distributed. Humorous gifts seemed to outnumber the practical ones by a big majority. George Heyman and Pete Eberle played Santa.

Lower right: Research had a party on the 24th complete with a costumed Santa Claus and Christmas carols. Jim Rickards, right foreground, an accomplished accordionist, furnished the music.
