

The official opening date for Camp Harry Straus has been set for Sunday, May 31, at 2:00 P. M. Many improvements will be noticed this year, probably the most outstanding one being the construction of a three-hole practice golf course in the area below the baseball diamond. On Monday, June 1, opening date of the camp fishing season, fishermen will find that five new boats have been put on the lake for their use. The fishermen's luck will probably be better this summer, too, for last winter the lake was stocked with over 650 bass and bream. Other improvements include: the renovation of the interior of the lodge, the building of a new 2700 gallon water reservoir and the construction of new rest rooms in the camp picnic area.

CAMP

Left: The lodge interior has been completely renovated and a sink and an electric stove installed. Above: Camp workmen try the new fishing boats, which they built during the winter months, to see if they are water-tight. Right: Alex Kizer, Sr., Camp Straus Supervisor, examines the new water reservoir which will provide a greater water supply for fire protection. Far right: Interior of hydrant house with 250-ft. hose reel.