Dear Mr. Dixon:

I want to take this opportunity of personally congratulating you for your outstanding work in accident prevention during 1952 which resulted in your winning a safety award from our department.

While the award itself is only a token of your fine work, we know that you and your employees have benefited from the work which caused a reduction of accidents in your plant.

If properly used your award can act as a challenge for a continuation of your safety program through 1953. I sincerely hope that your fine safety work will continue and I will have the pleasure of presenting your plant another award.

Sincerely,

Forrest H. Shuford
