ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OFFICE LISTS 255 ORGANIZATIONS AS SUBVERSIVE

There are 255 organizations in the United States today which are listed as subversive by the Attorney General's office. We believe our employees should know the names of these groups. These are organizations which often appeared in the news columns of newspapers and in magazines. The list is correct as of April, 1954.

Many of these organizations have assumed titles that have a patriotic connotation, but all are flying under false colors, according to the Attorney General's office which submitted them to the Department of Justice.

With so many groups and thousands upon thousands of "loyal" members all seeking to undermine our Government, it is vital that we keep our guard up and be ever vigilant.

One example of misleading names among these organizations will suffice. The National Blue Star Mothers of America is listed as subversive, but how easy to confuse it with the Blue Star Mothers of America, which is in no way subversive.

This company has a long record of patriotic service and cooperation in security measures, and so it seems appropriate that this list be presented for careful reading by Olin Mathieson employees.

The list follows:
