Representatives

Continued from Page One and which will continue to furnish them if we correct its imperfections and place its force behind the doctrine which our president, Mr. Peron, calls the "Third Position," the place between two extremes: extreme right and extreme left. This modified capitalistic doctrine, keeps alive and vigorous, both personal initiative and free enterprise, and promotes the social and economic advancement of the people in the shortest time possible."

Probably because of the speaker's wielding personality or because of his frequent praise of the United States, many delegates were inclined to completely forget that Doctor Ivanissevich representations. perfections and place its force beget that Doctor Ivanissevich represents a country said to be under a dictatorship at present and a country having been accused of aiding the Axis powers during

War. At a meeting Friday morning, to form various committees for the Council, Herb Wallace was appointed to the planning committee. Nickie Bonarrigo, Norman Bie, and Joe Morris were appointed to the foreign policy committee, the purpose of which is to formulate additions or amend-to formulate additions or amend-ments to the resolutions of the Collegiate Council for the United

FRIDAY AFTERNOON the delegates of the Collegiate Council for the United Nations met in the auditorium of Mitchell College for an open forum. Throughout this forum as well as most of the conference, as a whole, a definite lack of planning was in evidence. the conference, as a whole, a definite lack of planning was in evidence. The reason for this is in the fact that the students who took the initiative to plan this conference, attend college and have very little time for additional work, if they maintain the required average to remain in school. Most ofthe delegates attendingthe conference felt that due to the above mentioned circumstances the committee that planned the conference did exceedingly well.

The speakers on the forum

The speakers on the forum were Oscar Ivanissevich, Argentina; Sava Kosanovic, Yugoslavia; and John Reid, New Zealand. To many delegates John Reid was not very improssive because of not very impressive because of a lack of convictions on any one thing, in fact, some delegates felt that Reid was inclined to be non-committal. Doctor Oscar Ivanissevich, on the other hand, when asked questions which should have embarassed his government, denied nothing. When should have embarassed his government, denied nothing. When questioned about Nazism in Argentina, he merely compared it to other mistakes made by the United States government. Again the Ambassador gained the respect of the entire conference.

DURING THE FORUM, as well as at a banquet held at the States.

as at a banquet held at the Statesville Country Club later that night, Sava Kosanovic, Ambassador from Yugoslavia impressed the delegates. However, unlike the impression made by Ivanissevich; Kosanovic gained little popularity with the delegates. Although he vows that he is no Communist and that Yugoslavia is no satelite of Russia, he seemed to speak as if reading a teletype to speak as if reading a teletype straight from Moscow. The Am-bassador from Yugoslavia while answering questions at the forum.

NO GLAMMER? Who says- Any more questions? The dreamy-eyed little miss above is Betty Ann Bishop, A-B cheerleader of long standing. The photo was made by Don McMahon, Crier staff photographer.

SOCIAL CALENDAR

Secretarial Club will meet on the 4th and the 18th of Classical Coeds will meet on the 3rd and the 17th of Dec

Classical Coeds will enter-

Classical Coeds will entertain with a tea from 4:30 to 6:30 on Dec. 2nd at the George Vanderbilt Hotel.

Los Sabios, The Spanish Club, will meet on Dec. 8th at 1:00 in Room 4 at the school school.

Los Sabios will have a Christmas party at 14 Griff-ing Blvd., on Dec. 13th at International Relations Club will meet on the 4th, 11th, and the 18th at the school in the Snack Chop.

would invariably side step the issue and would never render a suitable answer. At the close of the conference most of the delegates were of the opinion that as a whole, the conference was a the council is no "Chicken Outfit" was unanimously decided upon by all delegates, for ham was served at every meal.

Special Flash By NORMANSKY BIESKY

Last wik we gung Lower Statesville for big convention Collich Concil United Nations. Gung hotel for planty rast after ruf trip. They grit us—no. Welcome us—no. Rake our rasbukniks—of cus. Big danner that evening. Stoodents gung attic eat cabbieh. Liors gung hellroom Stoodents gung attic eat cabbich. Lions gung ballroom, eat torkey After iting avarybody make spich and tell jokes. Confidantially jokes was badder. Spiches make you delegates weary. All decide gung back to room for recoup spirit of A. B. C. Soon half of convantion is halping us. Lincoln kan say "I like spirit of you A. B. C. fallows." McRae sed, "yo bat."

Next day we gung committee meeting. Plenty hot discussion over furrin policy bot we decided wait three monts before sanding instructions to United Nations. Friday night avarybody gung banquet at country clob.

gung banquet at country clob. Is gud foodnik—bast boiled ham in Lower Statesville. Big dance after danner where all gung bladeniks and beau-

Harrell Gets MVP Vote Of

Bulldog Team
Joe Harrell, the Mr. Quarter-back of Western North Carolina, nas received the highest award that could come to him—his teammates have voted him the most valuable player.

Joe will receive a trophy from the Cosmic club at the first annual football banquet, tentatively set for Dec. 12, and will become the first to have his name engraved on a Cosmic club plaque that has been given to the school.

Harrell has run the Asheville-

Harrell has run the Asheville-Biltmore squad unfalteringly over the 10-game route and his running and passing have classed him as one of the best backs in

ALTHOUGH THE SECRET vote was taken before the final game, Joe ended the season with a bang, passing to Don Baldwin for both touchdowns in the heart-for both touchdowns in the heart-breaking 13-12 loss to Hiwassee. In the preceding game with Georgia Military college, Joe passed for one score and ran the other, thus giving him the dis-tinction of being the principle factor in the Bulldogs' final four games of the season games of the season.

A great team man, Joe has stayed out of the limelight this year, calmly going about the business of calling the right plays and using the quarterback sneak when a first down was needed. His teammates fully appreciated it, however, and showed it by an almost unanimous yets. almost unanimous vote.

catchers gat together. You delegates druther gung fishing. Naxt day we pack up, snik out en fire escape, jump in jeepskate and head home. We planty glad to get back to Upper Slobbavia, Land O'sky

Students! 'Look Sharp"

Winners

GORDON'S JEWELRY STORE ON THE SQUARE

Watches, Diamonds, Jewelry

Community Coal & Lbr. Co.

Everything to Build With Everything to Heat With Ph. 871-872

Don't Say Bread Say-HOLSUM

Fresh Daily At All Good Food Stores