ASHEVILLE-BILTMORE COLLEGE ON THE AIR

Radio Class To Present The News

The radio department of Asheville-Biltmore is well into its regular series of weekly broadcasts over station WWNC each Saturday morning at 10:30.

The program presents the latest news of the college world each week, including an interview with an outstanding personality from the college and the community. Much of the material used is supplied by the Campus Crier and the Inter-Collegiate Press Association.

The present radio series is part of the regular curriculum work, and all scripts are written and produced in the classroom. Future plans of the group include a dramatic and variety show for radio broadcast over local stations under student supervision. After the scripts have been produced over the air, they are used for study purposes.

Johnny Tipton and Bob Vines were the first interview-guests of the broadcast series in a discussion of the functions of the Student Council at Asheville-Biltmore. Coach Herb Coman talked of the record and the future of the Bulldogs on the second program, followed last Saturday by Mr. McGuire in a discussion of the "Business end of education."

Members of the radio and speech department who have participated in the series are: Gus Coutlakis, Jean Kennedy, Bill Norton, Don Dillingham, and Eugene Waldrop.

Frank Wamsley Is Pres. Of Los Sabios

Frank Wamsley was elected president of the Spanish club, Los Sabios, at a meeting last Thursday. Other officers elected were, Sue Shealy, vice-president; Billie Cobb, secretary; Clarence Towe, treasurer; and Peggy Crompton, reporter.

Plans were made for the first monthly meeting to be held on November 23 at the home of Peggy Crompton. The Christmas meeting will be held at the home of Don Murray in December.

Co-eds Now Represented In Student Council

Martha Jane Wix was elected by the student body as the eighth member of Student Council. The vacancy was caused by a misconception of the College Constitution; in that, Bob Vines, president of the Sophomore Class, is automatically vice-president of the Student Council and can not serve as one of the eight elected members.

Martha was born December 17, 1928, and has always lived near Asheville. A graduate of Sand Hill she plans to enter the Secretarial Field. This is her last year at Asheville-Biltmore, then off she travels to take dictation from some clever executive.

Crunching popcorn or listening to Bing Crosby sing, "Now Is The Hour," are what Martha is usually found doing in her leisure time. It does her heart good to see an exciting football game, especially when the "Bulldogs" are involved. Their superb playing wins her admiration. She is also a great basketball fan.

Martha believes, "CO-operativeness is a trait to be desired by all. It is the back-bone of any organization or institution." Her pet peeve is to come to class and discover that she hasn't completed her assignments.

For some psychological reason, Martha likes '48 Dodges. The quality she most respects in a boy is courtesy.

Martha is the only one on the council to represent the Co-eds. It is up to her to sway the masculine majority in any emergency that may arise. We believe she can do it.

Ten Years Of Life

Asheville-Biltmore is now the proud possessor of every copy of Life magazine that has been published in the last ten years. These magazines were donated to the school by Mr. and Mrs. James A. Silence.

It will be very profitable to the students to have these issues of Life, for they can look and see what Life had to say about happenings in the past. In these issues not only can you find events of the past, but also pictures of these events, in which everyone is interested. In order to find an item in any particular issue, use the "Reader's Guide" (which is published twice monthly) for reference.

C.C.U.N. Begins Weekly Program

More publicity was given to Asheville-Biltmore college this week with the first in a series of weekly programs given by members of the C.C.U.N. These programs are being broadcast over WLOS each Wednesday evening at seven-thirty (7:30 P. M.).

The first of these programs, which was on November 10, was in the form of a panel discussion on the topic "The United Nations Charter as a Practical and Workable Instrument."

Formulated in this discussion were the first four principles of the Charter which are outlined as follows:

1. Peace and Security
2. Friendly Relations Among Nations
3. How to Achieve International Cooperation
4. The United Nations as a Center of Delegation

Members of the college chapter of the C.C.U.N. who participated in the program were Harvey Austin, Harry Ballew, James Pitts, Jack Connor, and Don Dillingham.

The members of the C.C.U.N. are anxious to have any students who are interested in taking part in these radio programs to contact any member of the college chapter. Subjects for discussion in the future radio programs have not yet been determined, but incidents, both national and international, are being planned in the form of panel discussions.

G. I. Bill Not Enough

As a social experiment, the G. I. Bill of Rights "doesn't go far enough" because it doesn't include adequate vocational guidance, according to Byron H. Atkinson, Coordinator of Veterans Af-
