

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

I, Johnny Mack Arnette, will all my free hours in the Snack Shop to Norman Sears.

I, Barbara Brown, will the mumps to some lucky freshman.

We, Anne Burnette and Bobbie Capps, will our tree house to the college, but someone will have to collect the rent because "Spinley" is leaving too.

I, Agnes Carrelli, will my broken test tubes to Ruth Reid.

I, Harvey Haynes, will my ability to cut class to Vernon Mull.

I, Pearline Lakey, will my ability to hit tractors to Phyllis Cogburn.

I, Paul Mann, will my favorite seat in psychology to anyone who will take it.

I, George McCoy, will my harmonica to Cooper.

I, Glenn Norvell, will my truck driving techniques to Homer Galloway.

I, Sammy Parker, will a bucket of bolts and a bail of water to Don Jones to keep his car running.

I, Joe Patelidas, will Miss Miller and her Spanish class to Johnny Lee.

I, Frances Penland, will my shorthand book to Joan Glover to be used as a paper weight.

I, Modena Penland, will my loving spirit to "Sugar Baby Morgan."

I, Bob Plemmons, will my broken-down moccasins to Betty Kirby.

I, Pauline Saull, will my job as librarian to Betty Kirby.

I, James Self, will Mrs. Wishart's outside classes to John Young.

I, Billie Taylor, will my beauty, charm, personality, intelligence, and money to be evenly distributed.

I, Wesley Tharpe, will my man-around-town ways to John Scogins.

I, George Tratos, will my missing hair to John Margrett, and my

GEORGE WILLIAM McCOY, JR.

George, who is one of our ablest and most versatile sophomores, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George McCoy, Sr., of Hillside Street. He has two sisters.

He is 5 ft., 10½ inches tall, has black hair, "crew cut fashion," and light blue eyes. His quiet nature gives him an enchanting personality.

It would take too much space to name all the activities and organizations in which he participated while at A-B C, but some of them are president of the student body, Sigma Mu Pi, basketball, and baseball. He also made the sets for May Day.

Next fall will find George either at N. C. State or Clemson, where he will continue to major in engineering.

We all wish to say, "good luck and thanks for a job well done!"

thrown-away cigar butts to Mr. Webb.
