

EDITOR COMMENTS

Most of us are facing the age old transition from the security of the gregarious youth to individualism. The time has come to do your own thinking. The most important decisions of your life may well be the choice of your curriculum and the attitude you now take. To many of us the choice between high pay in a career we do not really like, and lesser pay in one we do like, is a crucial problem. Too many will make hasty decisions and pay with many precious years of their lives. We must first know our own capacities, and then choose a career within them, realizing that no amount of money can buy back a wasted year. Before you say you've heard this before, be sure you understand.

Another most deserved compliment goes to the SUMMIT and those of you who were a part of the crowning of Miss Summit of 1960. In short, it was touchingly beautiful from beginning to end, and your choice of Miss Lynn Merchant was excellent. Hearty Congratulations!

The radio program "Asheville Biltmore College, Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow", deserves high commendation. Through the professional ability of Miss Flora McGhee and the fine attitude of the participants, the program was exceptionally nice. We believe the key to this success was enthusiasm.

THE EYE BANK

Further information is on the way to those of you who requested it and we hope you all will keep this cause in mind.

STUDENT COUNCIL NOTES

Since the student body of Asheville-Biltmore is a changing picture, the Constitution must also change for the best interest of the students. You, the students must have the voice in any changes made and your suggestions will be well

Will anyone having any suggestions (this includes faculty members) please leave them with the president of the council or any member of that group.

I wish to thank all the student speakers that participated in the radio program last Tuesday. It brought us many sincere compliments from people in this area. Our college is gaining more and more recognition from the newspapers, TV, and radio. Let us be proud of our college and take every opportunity to work for its advancement.

AN OPEN LETTER TO STUDENTS, FACULTY, AND PERSONNEL:

We are now at the beginning of a new basketball season at Asheville-Biltmore. Everyone now has a schedule of all the Bulldog games.

As most of us realize, there is no better way to promote our school spirit and friendship among students than the wholehearted support of an athletic team. You don't have to be a member of the team, a coach, or a cheerleader to take an active part in the basketball season. Each person at Asheville-Biltmore College can do his share to help promote school spirit simply by attending every game.

We're counting on YOU! See you at the games.
