

Campus campaign underway

Nominations are in for Student Government Senate elections and Homecoming King and Queen.

Senate nominees will deliver campaign speeches Friday at noon in the Highsmith Center. Students may vote for their choice next Wednesday from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. in the Highsmith Center. The election for Homecoming King and Queen will take place Sept. 27 and 28 in the student center.

The nominees are:

Homecoming Queen

Patti Brooks
Kasey Clontz
Meg Johnson
Robin Marlowe
Cheryl Rousseau
Lisa Schlitz
Tammy Spake

Dorm Senator

Jim Dills
Matt MacNeill
Freshman Senate
Melissa Beavers
Becky Dockery
Athena Fox
Kenneth Gordon
Bert Plemmons
Tresse Roper
Jennifer Ward

Homecoming King

Jeff Cloud
Steve Magoon
Tom Reynolds
Steve Sloan
Roy Van Oosterom
Steve Woody
Aytekin Yildiz

Graffiti: Continued from page one

About drugs there were a few interesting, if not intellectual, comments. "Smoke dope," and "acid + brains = tapioca pudding."

Also "dope will get you through times of no...." (Multiple guess on this one, folks.)

One student used drunkenness as an excuse for a poorly drawn picture.

But that didn't jibe with the well-read student who responded, "usually, when an individual attains a state of drunkenness she is put into a state of high creativity. This 'art' reflected no such switch over to right brain orientation...."

If one were to believe the writing on the bathroom walls, one might conclude that sex was the number one priority at UNCA.

Much of this stuff, of course, isn't printable. So you'll have to go read it yourself.

Sexual bias is a big subject. Things appear like, "I'm gay and I love it."

One whole wall is dedicated to the question of whether lesbian, homosexual (I guess, male), or heterosexual relationships achieve more commitment.

Finally, I found a statement that ended the subject by saying, "give it a rest. Who gives a flip if you are homo, hetero, bi or even tri-sexual."

School seems to be very important to students.

Some people aren't happy here, such as the person who wrote, "hell, here we go again...months of tribulation."

Referring to the roll of toilet paper someone put, "UNC-A diplomas."

Another penperson paraphrased Bob Dylan, "Oh mama! Can this really be the end, to be stuck inside of Asheville with the Memphis blues again?"

Writing is a time honored form of communication. Some bathroom scribblers just want to get their message across to someone particular or to everyone.

For example, one stall included a list of birth control methods and their advantages.

Another one had several religious messages and a few political ones, too, such as, "Think about nuclear war-face it, and work for peace."

On a newly cleaned wall the graffiti read, "Where did all the smut go?"

A beginning French student wrote, "Mon amour est Robe'rt."

"They wash the graffiti off the wall and don't fix the door—what a waste," said another.

This is true. Many of the bathroom walls around campus are washed clean (while the stall doors are broken).

I asked a woman in housekeeping about this. She told me that "graffiti is a never ending battle."

Still, to some people a pure white wall is an irresistible temptation to express themselves. So we will probably continue to have plenty of between-class, off the stall, written entertainment at UNCA.

Classifieds

Child Care: Anyone interested in seeing a child care center on campus, please contact Marthe Fletcher, SGA office, 258-6587. Ideas for space, funding, staffing, etc., very welcome. Please call. I need your support!

Electronic Sales: Part-time position selling audio, video & car stereos at discount prices. Over 50 name brands with full warranty and service facilities. Contact: Mr. Phillips, Hi-Fi Sales Co, 1001 Sussex Blvd., Broomall, Pa., 19008 (215-544-1465).

Position Available: Permanent part-time attendant needed 18 hours per week, evening shift, weekdays. Varies on weekends. Ideal for student. Apply at Take Ten Amusements, upper level, Asheville Mall.

Volunteer Opportunity: Planned Parenthood is looking for several UNCA students to work from 5-8 p.m., one or two nights per week and/or Saturdays from 9 a.m.-1 p.m. If interested, call Celeste Loftin, 252-7928.

For Sale: Why rent when you can own your own student quarters? Sell after you finish school & realize appreciation on your investment with a definite tax advantage each year. Many homes & townhouses available near campus! From $30,000. Caldwell Banker, J.D. Jackson, 190 Merrimon Ave. Phone 258-2222.

Announcements

Chi Alpha: Dr. Bill Thurman will address a meeting of Chi Alpha, Sept 19, 4:30 p.m., Highsmith Student Center, Room 37. His subject will be "Spiritual Gifts." This interdenominational student organization meets each Wednesday, Highsmith University Center, Room 37. For information call Mark O'Shields, 298-1307.

College Democrats: The College Democrats will meet Sept. 20, 12:15 p.m., Highsmith Student Center, Commuter Lounge. Come to get involved or to obtain information on Democratic candidates.

Speaker from China: Dr. Wang Shu Mao, from the People's Republic of China, will speak on "The Four Modernizations--The Current Revolution in China," Sept. 20, 1-2 p.m., Private Dining Room, Highsmith University Center. He will be addressing the first meeting of the monthly Student Forum, sponsored by the History Association and Phi Alpha Theta.

Organization Budget Deadline: All student organizations must submit their budget requests to the Highsmith University Student Center office by 4 p.m., Sept. 21. Forms are available at this office or at the Student Affairs office, Phillips Administration Building. For information call Keith Ray, director of student development, 258-6588.

Teen Night: Planned Parenthood of Asheville-Buncombe County, and Yesterdays, are sponsoring a Teen Night Dance, for college and high school students, Sept. 26, 7-11 p.m., at Yesterdays, on Tunnel Road, Asheville. Tickets will be $3 at the door. For information call 252-7928.

Money Available: Seed money is available from Quality Forward to anyone who will plant trees, flowers or shrubs on public property. Organizations and individuals may qualify for $25 for planting materials by writing: Quality Forward, PO Box 22, Asheville, NC, 28802.

Society for Creative Anachronism: The Society for Creative Anachronism meets every Tuesday, Highsmith University Center, Room 37, 7-9 p.m. It is an international, educational organization dedicated to studying the Middle Ages and Renaissance through "living history." For information contact: Bethany, 252-9458; or Chris Jolley, Highrise, 603B.

Clarke Campaign Volunteers: The James Clarke for Congress campaign needs student volunteers, especially on Saturdays to distribute literature in the Asheville area. Call 254-1747.

Hunt Campaign Volunteers: The Jim Hunt for Senate campaign needs student volunteers. Call 255-8300.

Advance Life Saving Course Rescheduled: The Advance Life Saving Course will be offered at Justice Gym starting Monday, Sept. 24 and continuing through Oct. 25. The class will meet on Monday and Wednesday from 8-10 p.m. at Justice Pool. Cost is $20 per person. Sign-up at the front desk after 3 p.m.

Scholarships Available: Students needing financial help may apply to The Scholarship Bank for private educational funding. The Bank has approximately 25,000 sources of private financial aid. It will send students who fill out a questionnaire, a list of 20 to 50 names and addresses to which they may apply. Order questionnaires by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to: The Scholarship Bank, 10100 Santa Monica Boulevard, #2600, Los Angeles, Calif., 90067.

Commuter Students: Come meet your SGA Senators, any Wednesday, 10 a.m.-2 p.m., Commuter Lounge.

Snack Bar Special

16 oz. Milk Shake

Regular $1.10 - This Week .75¢

With $2 Order And This Coupon

Unca Students Only
No Meal Cards
Expires 9-26-84