

The Barker

ETC.

A Summer at Oxford (England)

UNCA students have the opportunity to study at Oxford University and earn UNCA credit through this unique program.

See the program's web site for details:

<http://rocky.unca.edu/intlstudies/oxford.html>

For more information and for an application, please contact:

Pete Williams

Study Abroad Coordinator

222 Dining Hall

Asheville, NC 28804

Phone: (828) 251-6666

E-mail: pwilliams@unca.edu

Applications are taken on a first come, first serve basis, but students are advised to apply by mid February to have the best chance of placement.

Things to know about your UNCA ID:

Your Official University ID is the property of UNC Asheville and should be carried at all times while on campus

All replacement IDs will cost $10

There will be no temporary IDs issued

IDs will be available between 9am and 4pm in the UNCA Bookstore

Questions: call the OneCard office at x6767 or email onecard@unca.edu

Check out www.unca.edu/onecard

Questions and Answers About Your Civil Liberties in Times of Stress - Like Now?

A FREE ACLU Program

When: Wed. 1/30

Where: OCC, UNCA

Time: 7pm-8:45pm

Hear comments from panelists and ask your own questions!

UNDERSTANDING ISRAEL

The Humanities Program and Center for Jewish Studies will host three days of lectures and discussions on "Understanding Israel" February 2-4. A variety of topics, including the history of Zionism, contemporary Hebrew literature and ecology, will be discussed by leading scholars. The series will wrap up with the 2002 Phyllis Freed Sollod Memorial Lecture on "Israel and Its Neighbors Then and Now: Revisionist History and the Quest for Legitimacy in the Middle East Today" by author Eric Meyers. Questions? Call Rick Chess at 251-6576.