

FOOTBALL BANQUET

The Weaver College football team were guests of the town people of Weaverville at a banquet given at West's Cafe on Dec. 1.

Prof. C. H. Trowbridge, President of Weaver College, acted as toastmaster for the evening.

The food served was of an excellent quality and there was an abundance of everything that appeals to the appetite of the husky football player. After the food had been partaken of everyone present was called on for a speech. All responded in good style. It was pointed out in the speeches that a great deal of the success of the season was due to the work of Coach Arbogast. Everyone thanked the representative of the town people who gave the banquet for the backing that they had received from them.

After the banquet, ballots were taken for captain of the 1925 team. Emory Lyda, for three years center on the "Blue Giant" team, was elected to this position.

Those present at the banquet were Mr. V. Erskine who represented the town people, Coach B. H. Arbogast, Prof. C. H. Trowbridge, Graduate Manager E. R. Presson, Captain Fred Brummitt, Bonner Boger, Ray Carpenter, Sidney Croy, Horace Clemens, Richard Evans, Everette Goebel, Marshall Hampton, Fleet Hinson, Okel Jones, Nathan Jones, Theodore Jervis, Cornelius Kuykendall, Samuel Lemond, Emory Lyda, Steve Presson, Caroll Sorrells, Leon Warlick, D. B. Williamson, Marvin Widenhouse.

"The Mountaineer" Promises To Be A Work Of Merit

The local art editors are making some unusually fine drawings to be used as introductory pages. Besides the student artists who are at work, the editor-in-chief has secured the services of Mr. James Burrus, who was such a valuable aid on last year's "Mountaineer." Mr. Burrus has just completed designs for Ex-libris, sub-title, and title pages. He has also worked up panel designs for view section, and senior section. These drawings will give to the book an air of refinement that few can fully appreciate, since they are based on the designing submitted by the Bureau of Engraving's artists who are the best to be had in the country. The drawings have been forwarded to the engraver, together with campus views. Class photographs will be sent in this week. If the few photographs that have not yet come in are turned over to the editor immediately, it is quite probable that more than half the copy will be in the hands of the printer by January 1.

It has been rumored that Billy Bourne is going to favor the annual with one of his splendid cartoons. All who read The Asheville Citizen know that he is capable of producing the best.

The business manager reports that he is having fair success in securing advertising contracts. He wants it distinctly understood, however, that lack of support by any student will be considered a treasonable offense. Every student is expected to purchase an annual. To refuse to do so is to break faith with those who are giving of their time and talent freely; the only reward they ask or hope for, being the joy that comes from the satisfaction that one gets from knowing that he has done a hard job well, a job that will reflect glory upon our Alma Mater.

THE CARPENTER-MATTHEWS CUP

Weaver gained possession for at least one year and made a good start toward permanent possession of the handsome loving cup that will be given to the football teams of Weaver or Mars Hill Colleges that wins the first three games between the two institutions. This trophy is offered by the jewelry firm of Carpenter - Matthews of Asheville.

The first game between the two institutions after the cup was offered resulted in a scoreless tie. Weaver won the next game and is entitled to keep the cup until the next meeting between the two teams.

The trophy was presented to the football team by Mr. Matthews of the Carpenter-Matthews firm at the chapel hour on December 9th. It was received by Captain Brummitt.

Dr. Beulah Briley Resigns As Economics Department Head

Weaver College was very fortunate in securing Dr. Beulah M. Briley as a member of the faculty for the school year beginning September 3, 1924. Dr. Briley is a Ph. D. graduate of the University of Iowa and is an experienced and competent teacher. She came to her new position with a genuine interest in the welfare of the college. The vigor and intelligence with which she tackled her work at once gave confidence to the faculty and student body that the right person had been secured as instructor of Economics.

Dr. Briley is rather reserved, but to know her is to love her. It is with deep regret that her resignation has been accepted. On account of the condition of her health and also that of her mother, she will not be able to return to Weaver after Christmas, but she will spend the coming months with her people. It is the sincere wish of every one at Weaver that Dr. Briley and her mother will soon be restored to health.

There will be some changes in the work after Christmas. Mrs. Carden, the wife of Prof. Carden and a very energetic and capable woman, will relieve Prof. Powell of some of his work and will take over high school English that Dr. Briley had. Prof. Powell will resume his place held last year as head of the Departments of History and Economics.

It's a great deal better to come from the country and have folks know it, than to come from town and have folks thinking that you came from the country.

Janie: What would you do if I were to cry?

Williamson: Hang out a sign, "Wet Paint."

I wish I had a flivver,
I'd take a merry ride.
I'll like to feel it quiver,
With a maiden by my side.
I know I'm not a shiek,
Not good looking, as you see;
But if I had a flivver,
Then the gals would care for me.

By Henry Fortesquire.

The hours I spent with thee,
dear heart,
Are fraught with joy and bliss,
although
At times I'd like to kick apart
My radio, my radio.
