Literary Societies

Delphian

As the new year opens at Brevard College, the Delphian Literary Society is glad to welcome the new students to Brevard College. This society is one of the leading organizations on the campus, and offers each member a pleasure, both educational and social. The meetings are held once a week and each member is given an opportunity to participate in programs during the year. We cordially invite the boys to join us in all our meetings. Again we welcome all new students to Brevard.

—Robert Reinhardt, Pres.

Cliosopic

The members of the Cliosopic Literary Society invites each boy of Brevard College to join our society which we believe to be the best on the campus. In fact, we know it to be, in athletics, education, and entertainment. Just a Clio! Come on, boys!

Euterpian

The Euterpian Literary Society extends a cordial welcome to every girl of Brevard College. This society is one of the leading organizations on the campus. It is the sister society of the boys' Cliosopic Society.

Occasionally the boys and girls hold joint meetings. The work is carried out in a way that is both educational and entertaining to all. Again the Euterpians welcome you to Brevard College.

Mnemosynean

This is a girls literary society which seeks to serve as well as to entertain its members. Those who work with us find it both pleasant and profitable. The new students are most cordially invited to join with us in the work of this society.

Introducing Some Hints for Freshmen Strangers

Let us introduce you to two new residents in the college community. They are very important ones in their field of labor. If you have not already seen them you soon will. As a rule they are not very talkative and will speak when spoken to. It is the best plan not to stand close behind them when you do speak. This venerable couple of 9 and 11 years respectively are evidently from the "sticks" for they were quite skittish about their first automobile. Even the noise of a mowing machine was too much for them and they ran into a tree before they were able to calm themselves. It has been reported that Mr. Colvard was holding the reins when they broke away. The only damage was a broken mower tongue. Of course you have guessed by now that I am introducing you to the mules, Haley and John.

A hive of bees is another new addition to the college farm. You will of course want no introduction to them.

It has been reported that Frank Penland on one occasion fed twenty-one hogs a hundred pounds of laying mash. You will see them this winter.

Top Hat

A gay and glorious musical romance... with huge scenes of lavish splendor. Five tremendous new song hits and dance numbers. Nothing so marvelous has been seen on the screen before.

When you enter Brevard College you are considered a gentlemen, or a lady. You can do as you like about your work; nobody will make you do it. Be honest with yourself and always keep in mind the fact that you are here because of a great life purpose.

You are a freshman in college and not a senior in high school. You are not judged by what you say about your "prep school" but by what you do here.

All students should be in the cheer-gni section at the athletic contests in order to give the team proper support.

Every member of the student body should speak to the men of the visiting teams while they are on the campus and do all in their power to make them feel at home while here.

Don't think that profanity, cigarettes, and drinking "booze" make a true college man.

Don't be afraid to say "NO" and stick to it. There will always be company with you at Brevard College.

Don't cut out athletics. Get into some form of them and benefit yourself.

Be a mixer and a credit to the college.

You will never find time for anything—if you want time you must make it.

Be a gentleman or a lady at the table as well as elsewhere.

Be willing to take advice from faculty and upper classmen alike.

Don't hurry in the selection of your intimate companions. Take time to select the right companions, because it means much to establish yourself with the right company.

To be a success as a student it is necessary to "shine," in the class room as in the "bull session."

Dear Students:

To you who are coming to Brevard College for the first time, we extend a most hearty welcome and our best wishes for a successful and happy school year.

To you who were with us last year, we assure you that we are delighted to have you back and trust that your second year will be as pleasant as the first.

To both classes, you are cordially invited to make our store your headquarters while up town. It will be a pleasure to serve you in any capacity we can.

Very truly yours,
United Variety Stores
