Debaters Chosen

Toward the end of the first quarter the four literary societies decided to unite in forming a debating team under the direction of Mr. Pangle. The debaters from each society have been chosen; they are Ida Whisenant and Bessie Morrison, Mnemosyneans, Geraldine DeVier and Mavis Shinn, Euterpians, Harold Severs and Rembert McNeer, Delphians, Horace Raper and Norman Plott, Clios. These students have been meeting with Mr. Pangle regularly and are fast developing into a team. On February 25 the debating team from Western Carolina Teacher's College will come here for a debate, and sometime in March the local team plans to enter the contest between junior colleges of North Carolina which is to be held at Charlotte.

Boys Are Guests at Party

Last Saturday night marked itself as one of the unwonted occasions at Brevard when the girls gave to the boys a leap-year party at West Hall.

Yes, unusual it was. The girls, decorously clad in evening gowns called for the boys at 7:45. Many of the ladies brought neat corsages, while others came as most boys always go. Over snow and under moonlight the girls walked their invitees to the party hall—at West Hall.

After the guests were assembled, there was an enjoyable program presented by students.

Following the program, the remaining time was taken for several minute dates, and this time it was the boys standing around biting a thumb waiting to get a break.

A candy booth was installed; and the girls depleted their compacts, evening bags, or what-have-you to satisfy a hungry boy. There were 280 bars of candy sold.

Question: How would Tom Graham like two more cherry pies?

Pertelote Staff Chosen

Recently work has been begun on the annual for 1936. The rest of the staff has been chosen, and the individual pictures have been taken. The annual staff has awarded the contract to the Lassiter Press, Charlotte, North Carolina, to print the PERTELOTE. There are many organization pictures to be taken, and plans are under way now to complete as many of them as is possible by the end of the winter quarter. Arney Fox, editor of this year's annual, states that he thinks it will be off the press about two weeks before commencement, possibly not that early.

The entire staff is as follows:

Editor-in Chief	Arney Fox
Associate Editor	Russell Bostic
Assistant Editor	Leighton Presson
Sophomore Class Editor	Martha Walker
Freshman Class Editor	Satenik Nahikian
Organization Editor	Sibyl Spratt
Photographic Editor	J. S. Dendy
Assistant Photographic Editor	J. R. Burton
Athletic Editor	Robert Reinhardt
Typists	Emily Sue Mallonee and Alma Talley
Business Manager	Dan Williams
Assistant Business Manager	D. R. Styles

Play Will Be Given at Vespers

Sunday evening, February 16, "The Neighbors", a one act play by Zona Gale, will be presented at vespers. Mr. Carlisle is directing this play, and practices are being held regularly. This is a vehicle for portraying the age-old subject of neighborliness. This particular play has as its objective the welding into a common purpose the interests and energies of the residents of a small rural community.

After the necessity arose making it imperative for the group to work together, they forgot their petty griev-

At Virginia Lodge

Virginia Lodge wishes to thank the girls of West Hall for the good time they had Saturday night at the leap-year party.

Miss Binford and Miss Hatcher entertained Mrs. Cathey, Miss Shore, Miss Smith, Miss Sizemore, and the Misses Fewell at a fireside sewing party last Thursday night. The guests particularly enjoyed the popcorn and candy.

Mrs. Trowbridge, at the Virginia Lodge prayer meeting last Thursday evening talked interestingly on "The Purity of Womanhood." She had an appreciative audience.

The sick and the injured at Virginia Lodge have now recovered. Madeline Farthing is back at work after a brief illness; and Miss Hatcher and Mary Furr, who were hurt while playing in the snow, are feeling better.

Sophomores Select Superlatives

Wednesday morning, January 29, the sophomores met to select their superlatives for the year. The votes were cast by secret ballot and then counted later. Those who won first places are as follows: most handsome, Robert Reinhardt; most beautiful, Elaine Call; most intellectual, Ruth Sylvester and Russell Bostic; most popular, Tom Graham and Billie Bundy; best all round, C. W. Harmon and Sibyl Spratt; most original, Ferrell Young and Frances Goforth; most friendly, C. W. Harmon and Ida Whisenant.

Miss Hatcher, announcing hymn in chapel on Tuesday morning, said: "Shall we use hymn number 264, 'Are Ye Able,' shall we stand, please?"—And we were able, so we stood.

ances and the prejudices which they once bore toward each other. In their joy for working for someone else they learned to live together as neighbors should.
