Music While We Dine

It seems that about the biggest addition that could be made for the interest and wholesome enjoyment of the largest part of our student body is to have music at West Hall at lunch and dinner.

We believe that there has been decided negligence in the absence of music so far this year. We believe that the meal itself would become more enjoyable. Music is furnished in the best dining places in America. Leading colleges in the entire nation have music for the diners, which is usually furnished by elaborate college orchestras. Radio programs are furnished over leading stations for private-home diners to enjoy. Good music gives new luster; it adds several new smiles; it sidetracks the mind from the strain of studies; it causes a sensation that cannot be expected and that only music can furnish.

We suggest that we have popular music at lunch and light classics at dinner. We firmly believe that there are many who would gladly serve on a committee to have such a program afforded.

"An adventure is an inconvenience rightly considered. An inconvenience is an adventure wrongly considered."

A frown is a smile gone wrong.

Bulletin Board Announcements Marred

What is more pestering or patience-eating than to pass the bulletin board and find nine-tenths of the announcements defaced with catty remarks and oftentimes an added misleading statement?

Such a practice is general. This foolishness may be done by a few, or it may be done by practically everybody who has a catty mind and not enough pride to withhold such remarks.

When one defaces an announcement, he is making a nuisance of himself to every other member of the student body. The bulletin board is read every day by practically every member of the student body. It is a medium of promulgation of public and private interests. It is for every student. Announcements appearing should not be altered except by the poster of such.

Consider how you would feel if some one would add remarks that should cause misunderstanding of an announcement of yours. It is only respect for others and pride in yourself to withhold the mutilation of bulletin-board announcements.

Beautification Of Campus

During the past two weeks much work has been done in regard to the beautification of our campus. Many shrubs have been planted around the walkways and other strategic points, flowers have been set out in several little plots about the lawn, and many other improvements have been made on our campus as a whole. These various improvements will be noticed a great deal later on in the season when the new plantings will have taken root and have begun to grow and blossom so that every one will be able to notice them. Along with the trees, which are beginning to come out so much at this season of the year, these new things will make a very pretty scene, and something that will make every one of us feel good and also make us very proud of our campus.

There are many who have played a large part in this good work, chief among whom is Miss Binford, dean of girls at Virginia Lodge. Miss Binford has worked untiringly, giving her time

At Virginia Lodge

The girls of the Lodge went on a picnic Friday afternoon to the Webb Cabin near Camp Sapphire.

Girls from the Lodge attending the ball game at Mars Hill Friday were Bessie Morrison, Margaret Slagle, Margaret McKinney, Lizzie Dozier, Mary Furr, and Mary Lou Latham.

Bessie Mae McFadden was a dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. John Maxwell, of Brevard, Sunday. Her mother and father visited her Sunday at the Lodge.

Doyle Martin, of Fallston, a former student of Brevard College, was a week-end guest of Vivian Moore.

The parents of Pauline Auer were dinner guests at Virginia Lodge Thursday night, April 30.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Cennering, Miss Beatrice Trautman, and Mr. Erskine Stewart, of Concord, were Sunday guests of Mary Furr.

Miss Carrie Davenport, of Chattanooga Tennessee, friend of Mr. Colvard, was a week-end guest of Miss Hatcher.

Miss Pauline Wall, of Spartanburg, South Carolina, another one of last year's Coltrane girls, was a visitor here Sunday.

Nell Davenport spent Wednesday night, April 29, at her home in Asheville.

and efforts to this work. She has supervised the boys who have worked with her very cooperatively, and between them they have accomplished great things and deserve the highest commendation. We as students should greatly appreciate all this that they have done for us.

There are various ways in which we can show our appreciation. We can best do this by cooperating with them in this fine work. We can do our part in keeping the campus clean and, best of all, by observing the several "Keep off the grass" signs which have been put up in certain spots. Most of these have been placed where we formerly made paths across the grass. This ground has been dug up and new grass planted, and it will not grow unless we give it a fair chance and stay off it until it comes up. So, in closing, may we urge every one to do his or her part in this beautification project and by this show our appreciation to those who have worked so hard on it and also to those who have given these plants.
