Commencement Play To Be Given

Hamilton Basso Gives Twenty-Three Volumes

Mr. Hamilton Basso, noted writer and critic who is a resident of Brevard, recently gave to the college library twenty-three recently published books, most of which are fiction.

Mr. Basso's latest book is "Courthouse Square," a book which is based on "small town life."

Dean DuPre of Wofford College gave the library a copy of Winston's "Life of Robert E. Lee" when he was here a few days ago.

Jones Is Named Most Valuable

At the meeting of the International Relations Club last Tuesday night George Jones was elected the most valuable member of the club during the year.

Mr. Jones has served as vice-president of the peace organization two terms this year and by virtue of this office has been chairman of the program committee. He attended the I. R. C. convention that met in Alabama during the winter quarter.

Botany Class Has An Unusual Trip

Last Saturday, May 8, Mr. Dendy's Botany class spent the day on an unusual field trip at Holly Pen, which is a gorge just beyond Toxaway Lake.

The class left the bus on the highway while they went down the 1,600 foot gorge of six miles to the remote section where several unusual species of wild flowers are to be found, among which is the shortia.

In the gorge the class studied plant life and vegetation. Soon the group will visit a mountain for the study of Canadian flowers.

Montgomery Speaks

Mr. D. H. Montgomery, director of student religious activities and professor of Bible at Wofford College, spoke to the student body at mid-week vespers Wednesday night. Traveling with Mr. Montgomery was the college glee club quartet.

Mr. Montgomery spoke about the fear of death, giving the different views of death by the different races of people, and the various philosophical views.

The glee club sang three numbers during the devotional period, and following the vesper service they gave a short program.

Delightful Play Is Club's Choice

Next Tuesday night the Dramatic Club will present as the commencement play "Come Out of the Kitchen," in the college auditorium at eight-o'clock.

This is a delightful, fascinating, hilarious, and stirring three-act comedy which will bring laughs and sobs.

The story begins with a smart, gay, and happy group of four brothers and sisters who have found themselves in pathetic financial difficulties; and they are having to rent their house to a rich "Yankee man" for six weeks in order to get some ready money. (Their father is ill, and their mother has taken him to a hospital in Europe as the only chance to save his life.)

At the last moment as the "Yankee" comes to visit, they discover that no servants are to be found; so the designing brothers and sisters decide to suddenly become servants. When Mr. Yankee-Man (played by Leighton Presson) comes, he immediately falls in love with the cook, who is the oldest sister, (played by Doris Thorne). So the whole affair becomes one stupendous mess, and there are two breath-taking acts to straighten it out.

In the supporting cast are Misses Mildred Cogdill, Satenik Nahikian, and Jean Mangum; and Messrs. Eddie Carlisle, Frank Craven, Griffin Campbell, Revis Frye, John Odom and Russell Andrews. All of these are members of the Dramatic Club and have had a great deal of experience on the stage this year.

"RAIN BRIDE"

Last night under the direction of Mr. Bennett and Mr. Carlisle students of the Department of Religion presented the Biblical play, "The Rain Bride," which was written by Dr. H. E. Spence.

Clarion Editors To Be Elected Next Week At An Assembly

Editor On Committee That Began Paper

At an assembly period next week the student body will elect the editor, associate editor, and body. The student body may make other nominations, but the faculty committee must approve any floor nominations.

At a recent meeting of the staff Monk Landreth was nominated for editor; Helen McConnell was named for associate editor; and J. C. Williams was selected for business manager. All these candidates are present members of the staff, and their nominations have been approved.

Odell Salmon, the retiring editor was on the original committee which met in August 1935 to arrange for a student newspaper to come into existence. He was on the first editorial committee that published the first issue of the Clarion. Last year he was associate editor of the publication, and at the close of last year he was unanimously elected as editor-in-chief for the present school year.

Salmon has written for every publication of the paper, and his entire writing in the Clarion amounts to nearly 100,000 words. His writings include all the departments of the paper, and most of the editorial work has been done by him.
