Welcome To Homecoming

New Brevard College Marching Band

Pictured above is the newly organized Brevard college marching band as it marched through town last week prior to the Brevard-High Point football game. Under the direction of Mr. Malvin Artley, director of music at the college, the band will perform at all Brevard football games both at home and away.

Special Program Is Planned For Homecoming Battle Here

On Saturday morning, October 16, Brevard's new marching band left for a trip to Banner-Elk, where Brevard and Lees-McRae engaged in a football game that afternoon. In order to get there in plenty of time, the group left the campus about eight-thirty that morning; and during the long ride to Lees-McRae, Miss Gates and Head Cheerleader, Frank Roberts, led the passengers in singing such old favorites as "She'll Be Coming 'Round the Mountain," "I've Been Working on the Railroad," and "Now Is the Hour."

During the half, the band paraded the length of the field. Led by Drum Major Jim Wofford and Majorettes Pauline Mallard, Elaine Orr, and Billie Rhodes, the band formed the letters "L. M." in

Coltrane Asks Students Support For Coach's Pay

In a chapel address early this week Dr. Coltrane, president of the college, made known the fact that money allowed by the board of trustees to the college for athletic activities was a little short to meet the circumstances that exist concerning the football team. The board gave Coach Alexander a specific amount of money with which to hire an assistant that would help improve the Tornado squad. The money allotted is almost gone it was found, but Dr. Coltrane urged that the student body do something to prevent the college from having to let coach Swicegood go.

Dr. Coltrane presented the problem to the students in a combined chapel program and asked for suggestions as how money could be raised to meet the need. After much discussion, it was decided that each student and each member of the faculty would contribute one dollar.

Contributions are being collected by members of the house councils and Mrs. Holmes in the dean's outer office. Contributors will be given a receipt and a record will be kept.

Dr. Coltrane urged that all members of the student body and faculty support this worthy cause which will prove that we are behind our football team to the limit. "We hope we will soon reach the 100% mark," Dr. Coltrane continued.

Dr. Embree Blackard Speaks In Chapel

Dr. Embree H. Blackard, pastor of the Main Street Methodist church of Gastonia, was guest speaker Wednesday at chapel services. Dr. Blackard spoke on the Amsterdam Conference explaining the points brought out at this important church meeting at which 147 different denominations were represented.

Large Number Of Alumni Expected To Return To The Campus

Brevard college's 15th annual homecoming week-end is expected to be celebrated by many participants this year. Two top-flight teams will meet in the homecoming football game Saturday night to afford the main attraction of the day. Today's few arrivals and tomorrow's droves of alumni are being greeted and directed and to lodgings by a delegation of students.

With Saturday afternoon classes being omitted, action for the week-end will begin with an organ recital in the auditorium of Dunham Hall at three o'clock. At four, an informal tea and reception will be given in the James Addison Jones Memorial Library. Following the reception, a tea dance will be given in West Hall which will last until five and round out the afternoon's entertainment.

Two of Western North Carolina's top teams will clash Saturday night when the Brevard Tornadoes and the Bulldogs of Gardner-Webb meet on the lighted high school field. Having won two games, lost three and tied one, the Brevard "twisters" expect a good fight from the "Bubblin' Tech" footballers of Boiling Springs. The game with Gardner-Webb places Brevard about halfway through her number of conference games for the season. A large turnout of shouting spectators is expected for the contest.

Immediately following the football game, the annual homecoming dance, with music by Bob Davis and his orchestra, is to be held in the college gymnasium. Featuring the mellow tones of Bob Davis' saxophone and songs by Lois Stratton, Jack Prince, and the Kampus Kut-ups, the Davis ensemble is expected to be a fine attraction.

Troy Barrett Visits Campus

Troy Barrett, for two years head cheerleader at Duke University, added to the pep and school spirit at the game last Thursday night. He helped our cheerleaders at the game, introduced new yells and motions, and aided in making the crowd more enthusiastic.

Even though Brevard lost, the crowd left the field full of pep and good spirits, and a large number of students went down to the basement of West Hall to a dance conducted by Troy. The activities consisted chiefly of square dancing, but there was also some round dancing. During the square dances, Troy called most of the steps and introduced some steps which were new to most of the students.
