gym on Saturday night of last week. The dance featured the music of Paul Harmon and his orchestra with Doris Hegler, vocalist.

The gym was decorated night club style in the traditional college colors of blue and white. Many old timers thought the vets did a better job of decorating than any other club which has sponsored a dance in the past.

Boys who did most in preparing the gym for the dance were Joe A. Price, Bob Whittle, Ray DeLapp, Claude Hicks, Tommy Blackwelder and "Smoe" Chapman.

EUTERPEANS

Euterpean literary society held its annual picnic on Friday afternoon, May 20, from 4:30 until 7:30. Miss Add Lea Morgan, faculty adviser for the club chaperoned the group to the hill at Ross Hall where they had a weiner roast.

The club's constitution says that the incoming president must have been an officer of the club during her Freshman year. In that capacity, Mildred Davidson was elected to next year's presidency by a vote of acclamation.

Sophomore Skip Day Was Held At Sapphire May 12

Brevard's sophomore class held its annual skip day on May 12 at Sapphire camp. Recreation was provided during the day and a picnic lunch of hamburgers, potato salad, apple pie and drink was enjoyed by all.

The group left the campus and the freshman class, about 9 in the morning and returned to school at 4:30 in the afternoon. Tennis, softball and hiking occupied the time of the some 150 students who took advantage of the outing.

Chorus Sings For Charlotte Church Sunday, May 15

The mixed chorus of Brevard college, under the direction of Bruce A. Livengood, gave a repeat performance of the sacred concert which was given in Brevard before Easter, on Sunday night, May 15, at the Dilworth Methodist church, Charlotte, Rev. Fletcher Nelson, pastor.

The group left the campus at 1 o'clock on a bus which Dilworth had chartered to transport the singers to and from Charlotte. They arrived just before 6 o'clock, and at 6:30 were served a fellowship supper by the women of the church. Group singing and a program of entertainment was enjoyed with the Youth Fellowship of that church.

The loose offering which was taken during the service was donated to the chorus by Rev. Nelson. This money which amounted to a little over $50, along with the other donations that the chorus has received, will be used to purchase new robes for the club next year.

Immediately after the concert, the members of the chorus were invited to the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Livengood, parents of the director, to a tea.

What's Your Opinion?

By FRANCES SLOOP

What will you miss most about Brevard next year?

Jim Underwood: "My most pleasant memories will be of the people I have met."

Eloise Crawford: "I'll miss the crazy crew in West Hall, rushing around trying to get to breakfast on time, studying in the library, and of course, I'll miss all the people."

Tommy Blackwelder: "I'll miss Miss Smith, Miss Craig, Mr. Pangle, Dr. Bramlett and the tavern."

Euva Sentelle: "The Day Students' Room and Miss Smith's literature class."

Betty Mellard: "I'll miss all the wonderful friends I've made and the warm atmosphere of comradeship on campus and especially West Hall."

Lou Hamrick: "The students and the blaring radios and stomping feet on Sunday mornings when I'm trying to sleep."

Ernest Gilstrap: "Everybody."

Betty Grey Billings: "I'll miss Miss Hayes' Spanish quiz every day thank goodness and all the grumbling 'chow hounds.' Most of all though, I'll miss the friends with whom I have lived these two years."

Frank Thompson: "I'm going to miss the sinister atmosphere that hangs over the girls' dorms and the inexplaine holes in the walls of the boys' dorms."

Glenna Higgins: "Working in the chow hall and seeing everybody stumble in to breakfast every morning and hearing them complain about the food. I'll also miss the wonderful weather we have here (Hm!), but I'll miss the people more than anything."

Glenn Davis: "The bull sessions

IN MEMORY MEMORIAL DAY MAY 30

GONE, BUT NOT FORGOTTEN

Always so true, unselfish, and kind,
None in this world their equal you'll find—
A beautiful life that came to a sudden end;
But they died as they lived, everybody's friend.
So many of them this life have they left,
But God has always done what is best—
For us the living, he leaves the rest.

And to them that gave their life for us
That we on earth might live in peace,
We solemnly promise never to break their trust.
God helped us to bear our great losses;
And He helped us to carry our heavy crosses.
But our losses none can tell—
But those who knew them so well.

It seems that it was only yesterday
That we were all together at play
In the sand piles or on the vacant lots;
But as all of us grew up together
Year by year, we learned to love one another;
And of them, fond memories will remain;
Though our hearts are filled with pain.

in the dorms and griping about the faculty and administration."

LaNue Floyd: "I'll miss playing ball and some of the girls. (Some, LaNue?) I'll miss all the boys, too. In fact, I'll miss the place in general."

Morgan Murphy: "I'll miss the mountains because it's mighty flat country down home."

Johnny Jones: "The bull sessions and the good old times over in 'J,' biology classes, the friendly atmosphere of the campus, and all the people."

Clifton Riggins: "I'll miss flirting with all the girls and Mrs. Pylant's ever watchful eye."

Charles Chapman: "Working for every dance that comes along, setting up lights and decorating. I really will miss the red-headed dietitian."

Jim Buckner: "I expect I'll miss all the bull sessions over in 'G,' stealing May poles, putting T-models on the steps of the Ad building (Here's the man, Harry), but most of all, I guess I'll miss old Chief Dickson up town."

Bob Levi: "I'll miss Miss Craig's English class, the bull sessions in 'J,' and pouring water on Mrs. Curtis. But most of all, I'll miss having special conferences with the Dean at 2 o'clock in the morning."
