

Orchids to the campus clubs, four ads in this issue. Ditto to "H" and "J" boys!

Clarion

Weather Forecast:
Tornadoes to hit Mars Hill tomorrow about 2:30 p. m.

Volume XVII

BREVARD COLLEGE, NOVEMBER 22, 1950

Number 3

CELEBRATIONS PLANNED; OBSERVE HOLIDAY

Work Begins On Rec Hall Soon

Led by the student council and the four literary societies, Euterpean, Mnemosynean, Cliosophic, and Delphian, the students of Brevard college will begin the redecoration of the recreation hall this week.

During the course of remodeling, the bookstore will be moved to the center room of West Hall. A canteen will be blocked off from the first roll of pillars that divide the rec hall. Only such things as soap powders, sandwiches, coffee, and school supplies will be sold at the canteen.

Students are seriously considering the playful suggestion of President Ehlhardt that the canteen be named "THE ARK." "The animals," he explains, "will come in two by two."

The four societies are as excited about this new project as are the Student council members. Upon realization that a generous amount of money would be needed for this project, the Mnemosyneans immediately began to make plans for raising their share. They have decided to give an old-fashioned square dance featuring the "Drifters," a very popular string band, and the Brevard clogging team.

Martha Gibbs, president of the Euterpeans, is sure that her group will be able to raise enough money to help a great deal with the rec hall. She also has promised help with scrubbing the floors and chipping the old paint off the walls.

The Delphians have agreed to raise money for a new ping-pong table.

—Turn to Page Five

Ehlhardt Sponsors Christmas Dance

President George B. Ehlhardt will sponsor a semi-formal Christmas ball for students and faculty of the college in James Addison Jones library on the night of Saturday, December 9.

According to President Ehlhardt, the affair will be "a typical Christmas party which will carry out the old English and German customs, as well as those familiar to America."

Although the body of the program will remain secret until the event itself, there will be a Christmas program, games, round and square dancing and refreshments for all. The library will be decorated in all of the gala fashion that symbolizes the Christmas season.

A committee composed of members of the faculty and of student body officers is assisting Mr. Ehlhardt with the arrangements.

Tornadoes Will Battle Mars Hill Tomorrow; Game Time Is 2:30

Tomorrow afternoon the Brevard Tornadoes, continuing their traditional rivalry with the Mars Hill Lions, will fight to add a fifth football victory to the series of four wins accumulated at the expense of Mars Hill in the past three years.

The game will be played before a Thanksgiving crowd on the Brevard high school field at 2:30 p. m.

According to Coach Bob Andrews, the teams are equally matched; both are seriously handicapped by injuries, but both are fired for this game by its importance to their own schools, and both are primed for a fight.

ALUMNI TO ATTEND

The presence of alumni at this game will strengthen the determination of the Brevard squad. Homecoming having been moved from an earlier date by the fires at Dunham Hall, alumni in considerable number are here by special invitation, although the official homecoming has been postponed until spring.

—Turn To Page Six

WPNF Uses Local College Talents

By allowing student participation on its programs, Brevard's MBS affiliate radio station WPNF is rapidly unearthing the talent of Brevard college enrollees. Early talent finds have been Bobby Hoyle, Mary Alice Hollifield, and Dorothy Gay Rockwood.

Sophomores will remember Bobby Hoyle for his using a violin to imitate barnyard animals in chapel last year. This year as a member of the "Drifters" he helps to present a program of Western music

—Turn to Page Four

Dance And Game Highlight Day

A diversified program of activities will hold the attention of alumni, faculty, parents, students, and visiting friends here over the Thanksgiving holiday.

Beginning the day's program will be a Thanksgiving service. President George B. Ehlhardt will lead in meditation, and the college choir will provide appropriate music. This assembly will be held in the James Addison Jones library at 11:00 a. m.

Following the service the college will adjourn to a dinner specially planned for the occasion by J. C. Gaither, school cafeteria manager, and his staff.

GAITHER ANNOUNCES MENU

Starting with assorted appetizers, among them creamed turkey soup, the menu will feature, Mr. Gaither has announced, young tom turkey with the traditional trimmings of cranberry sauce and dressing. This favorite main offering will be supported by such side dishes as candied yams, Irish potatoes and gravy, broccoli, and buttered rolls. Spicy pies, pumpkin and mince, will carry into the dessert course the traditional aroma of Thanksgiving dinner.

GAME AT TWO-THIRTY

By 2:30 p. m. the college will have moved en masse to the Brevard high school field. There, in an atmosphere highly charged by long-time rivalry, the Brevard Tornadoes will settle this year's gridiron dispute with the Mars Hill Lions.

DANCE AT EIGHT

The James Addison Jones Library, will be the scene of a semi-formal Thanksgiving dance sponsored by the Student council.

Bernie Welch, Student Council president, has announced that the returns from the minimal entrance fee will be used in the remodeling of the recreation hall.

Musicians Give Recital Friday

Students of the department of music appeared in a recital at 8:30 p. m. last Friday in the music building.

The following students presented the types of solos mentioned: Nancy Hager, piano; Pat Brown, contralto vocal; Norman King, piano; Mack Lassiter, tenor vocal; Charles Barkley, piano; Jack Gooch, violin; Mary Jane Kornegay, soprano vocal; Alice Leggett, piano; and Ellen Faulkner, soprano vocal.