BREVARD COLLEGE, JANUARY 31, 1953

Number 4

Stan Hardin and Hilda Norwood hold the traditional Valentine symbol. The dance, to commemorate this seasonal holiday, will be held February 13.

Euterps Planning Valentine Dance

St. Valentine is being helped along this year by the Euterpean society who is sponsoring the annual St. Valentine dance. It is felt that love in bloom can buck even the most sinister of omens and so it is to be held on the night of Friday the 13th in the cafeteria.

At press time no definite plans have been made by the society as to admission, time, decorations and refreshments. It is fairly certain, however, that the dance will be informal. After their organizational meeting, posters will be placed around the campus giving full information.

Eversman Awarded Service Plaque

John D. Eversman, public relations director of Brevard college, was awarded a plaque for meritorious work at the Ecusta Paper corporation from February 6, 1942, to January 1, 1953, the time Mr. Eversman assumed his duties here at the college.

During the 11 years Mr. Eversman was connected with Ecusta, he served as director of music and recreation and according to the tribute on the plaque, made an important contribution to the company and to the community.

L. F. Dixon, vice president of Ecusta in charge of the paper division, made the presentation, and N. H. Collisson, vice president in charge of the cellophane division, praised the outstanding work of Mr. Eversman.

U.C.A. Aims At State Goal Of $2,500,000

"For Youth and the Kingdom," has become the war cry of hundreds of loyal church workers who are now in the midst of a campaign to raise $2,500,000 in the state of North Carolina. This money is to go towards the advancement of four leading Methodist colleges in North Carolina and is being raised under the United College Appeal which unites the two general conferences of North Carolina under one organization.

The allocation of this money goes as follows: High Point college, $761,905; Brevard college, $666,666; Greensboro college, $571,429; Louisburg college, $500,000.

Recent years have found these colleges seriously in need of renovation, new buildings and better facilities. When this building program is complete, the Methodist colleges in this state will be better equipped to train ministers and lay leaders so badly needed to advance religious and social work in our state and nation.

Under the auspices of the Methodist College Foundation, the churches of this state have been organized into a member-by-member, church-by-church, district-by-district basis. Each conference, each district, each church, and each member has its own goal to meet.

The Brevard portion of this financial aid will go primarily to eradicate the need for using the gaunt, unpleasant barracks now housing the boys; to build a new science building and to complete the overall rehabilitation program now underway.

Brevard College To Be Home Of Korean Students Next Semester

Team Loses On Road; Has Success At Home

Two recent road trips have proved to be very hard on the Brevard basketball average. By some forty-one points, Lees - McRae streaked past a badly outrated Brevard team in a fast-played but one-sided game. An Asheville five proved too strong, too, but not invincible in a 64 to 58 win over Brevard. These defeats were somewhat balanced out by a 96 to 54 drubbing that the Tornadoes handed the Warren Wilson team. In conference play this year, the team has won 1 and lost 3. Teams yet to play in the conference are second games with Spartanburg, Lees-McRae and Asheville-Biltmore.

'B' Average Attained By 1/5 Of College

To the winner goes the spoils in college as well as in some political systems. To the winning team goes the trophy, to the girl with the beautiful voice, the scholarship, to the boy with the wavy hair, the best looking girl, and to those who make the dean's list, the honor of having their names appear in the Clarion. Twenty-six students have achieved this by making a "B" or above average for the fall semester. They are as follows:

Annie Lou Allison, Matilda Bell, Jane Bishop, Harold Black, Anne Cowan, June Craft, Caroline Davis, Imogene Dickson, Barbara Hansen, Gardner Helms, Mary Ann Holden, Wallace Honeycutt, Kenneth Hoyle, Bill Kuykendall, Bruce McGuire, Melvin McIntosh, Mary Frances Meachum, Rachel Meaders, Mary Lillian Morgan, Wilson Morgan, Virginia Osborne, Patsy Parrish, John Randall, Celia Sherrill, Carolyn Thrower and Dorothy Wallace.

May Court Chosen For May Festival

The members of the freshman and sophomore classes have already elected their representatives to the May Court that will attend Annie Lou Allison, the Brevard college May Queen. Carolyn B. Freeman is the Maid of Honor. The May Day Festival is scheduled for May 2, and is under the direction of Miss Louise Mosely.

The representatives from the freshman class are: Betty Lou Starnes, Molly Primm, Betty Jo George and Gena Dickson. From the sophomore class some, Frances Davidson, Jane Bishop, Jane Edwards and Carolyn Thrower.

Anyone reading a list of students for the fall term of 1953 may be a little startled to note the names of Lim Hyup Dong and Kim Min Jun as students at Brevard college. So far no one has come forward who will attempt to pronounce these names and vouch for their accuracy. We will call them Kim and Lim.

Kim and Lim are students of the Seoul high school in Pusan, Korea. Their applications were recently received by the president who said that he will be very pleased to have these two foreign students in our college next semester. One of the outstanding features of the two is the fact that neither has less than a "B" since beginning high school and a majority of the grades have been "A's."

Both Kim and Lim apparently come from very good families. According to his application, Lim's father is a university graduate and his mother is a high school graduate. Kim's father and mother are both high school graduates.

A letter received with the application forms expressed deep appreciation to the college for its help in making their trip and education in America possible. This letter showed a remarkable mastery of the English language (both speak English quite well). Here is a brief portion of the letter: "We are sure that we shall make every effort to effect better relations between your country and ours under the spirit of Christian democracy."

Betty Jo Beeson Weds James N. Fitzpatrick

Miss Betty Jo Beeson became Mrs. James N. Fitzpatrick in a ceremony at the Lexington Avenue Baptist church in High Point on Sunday, December 21, 1952. The church was decorated with holiday greenery and red poinsettias. Candles furnished illumination for the ceremony.

The bride wore a ballerina length gown of corded lace in Chantilly pattern fashioned over satin. It was designed with a lace bodice and a deep lace panel on the full net skirt, a lace bolero with a tiny collar and long sleeves ending in points over the hands. A fingertip veil of illusion was held in place by a cap of lace and satin. Her bridal bouquet was of rosebuds centered with an orchid. After the ceremony the couple left for a trip to Florida.

Mrs. Fitzpatrick is a graduate of High Point high school, Mars Hill college and Wake Forest college where she received an A B degree. Mr. Fitzpatrick graduated from Brevard college and the University of Florida.
