

"He who thinks for himself,
and rarely imitates,
is a free man."

The Clarion

"An examination is a challenge to us to put forth the best of our ability."

Volume XXV

BREVARD COLLEGE, NOVEMBER 8, 1957

Number 3

Halloween Carnival Big Success

Students Attend BSU Convention

The 28th annual North Carolina Baptist Student Union Convention was held in the First Baptist Church of Durham, November 1-3. Representing the Brevard College BSU were Ben Cassell, vice-president; Mary Allyn Reynolds, pianist; and Mrs. Bill Norris from the First Baptist Church.

Large numbers of Baptist students from the majority of North Carolina's colleges were present at the convention, and while there, were guests in the private homes of various church families.

The delegates were privileged to hear a number of exceptional speeches by prominent Baptist leaders. Not only were these speeches a great source of inspiration to all who heard them, but the music rendered by the well-trained BSU choir provided a great deal of pleasure to the assembly. Several discussion groups, under the leadership of outstanding religious educators and student leaders, were held during the convention, and also several question-and-answer periods were conducted, thus providing the students with opportunities to have their own religious questions answered by authorities.

One of the convention highlights was the showing of slides by two Baptist young people whom the 1956 convention had sponsored to do summer religious work.

Mary Allyn Reynolds was appointed to the Resolutions Committee of the convention. The purpose of this committee was to prepare a number of pertinent resolutions and present them to the convention assembly during the business session, where they were —Turn to Page Four FOREIGN STUDENTS representing Korea, Norway, Mexico, and Cuba, are Ti Young Kim, Choo Kim, Ole Borgen, Anael Rodriguez, Angel Gonzalez, and Ricardo Rumbaut. Not pictured are Jose Bolanos and Chi Kong Lee.

Brevard Masquers Working On Comedy

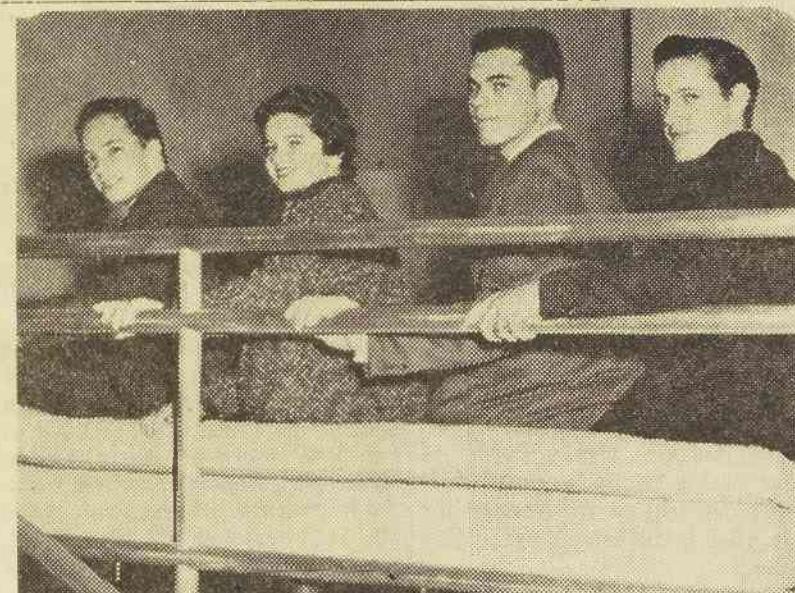

The Brevard Masquers have selected the cast for a one-act play entitled "Couldn't I Kiss You Goodnight?". David Jackson, who is a student at Brevard College, is directing the play, and is showing tremendous abilities in that position.

The cast includes Don Oglesby as Paul, Peggy Lewis as Jane, Pat —Turn to Page Four

BLT Will Present "My Three Angels"

The Brevard Little Theatre will present its first play of the season on November 15 and 16 in the main auditorium of Brevard College. The play, "My Three Angels," is directed by the BLT president, Mrs. Maggie Masters.

The Masquers are represented in the cast by their faculty advisor, Mr. Alex B. McFadden and David —Turn to Page Three

THE FRESHMAN CLASS has completed the election of class officers. They are from left to right: Charles Garner, president; Dave Chant, vice-president; Jerrie Mason, secretary-treasurer; and Jerry Shepard, student council representative.

Freshman Class Officers Are Chosen In Elections

The freshman class of Brevard has completed the election of officers. After several run-offs, the following students were elected.

Holding the office of freshman president is Charles Garner, a graduate of Marion High School in Marion, North Carolina. As a senior in high school, Charles was vice-president of the student society and held various offices in his church. He likes to play pool, and he plans to major in Mechanics or English.

Dave Chant, vice-president, is a graduate of Ashley High School in Gastonia, North Carolina. Before attending school in Gastonia, Dave was vice-president of the student

—Turn to page two

Loretta Helms Is Elected Queen. Roland Peacock Chosen As King

The barn at Brevard College Thursday night was covered with spooks and goblins. Upon entering the door the cries of the barkers nearly burst your eardrums as they tried in vain to outshout one another.

The spooks elected the lovely Miss Loretta Helms as their queen, and witty Roland Peacock as their king. The Masquers sponsored this election and everyone was well pleased with the results.

A jolly good time was had by all as the organizations offered a wide variety of amusement. For instance, the Phi Theta Kappa urged everyone to show off his skill by driving a nail into a board with one stroke of the hammer, by guessing the number of beans in a bottle, or by throwing bean bags through a hole. Prizes were awarded to everyone who succeeded in any of these great feats.

The Veteran's Club held their Woodenian Follies just next door to the Phi Theta Kappa booths. "Strip tease at its best," was the cry to be heard from the barkers. They had two of their own Veteran members dresses as lovely young ladies, who told a few good jokes, and completed their performance by peeling a banana. These young ladies, or men, Harold Waites and Frank Robinson provided fun for everyone.

Then, in the opposite corner the Kappa Chi had a marriage booth. For only ten cents you could marry your favorite girl and receive a five minute honeymoon. The licenses were not real, boys, so don't let your girl scare you.

The Nemos and Delphians sponsored a bingo stand which afforded everyone with the opportunity to win a nice prize. Gambling blood must have been running true, for this stand was filled to its capacity in every game.

Benny Martin and Martha Ann (Itsy) Martin waltzed away with the slow dance contest sponsored by the Euterpeans and Crios. Elaine Helms and Warner Foster jitterbugged themselves into the category of the best fast dancers at Brevard College.

The Women's Intramural Council sponsored cake walks. The cakes they gave away were so good that this reporter is offering a five cent reward for information leading to the names of the women who baked them.

To make it a perfect evening, none other than our own President —Turn to Page Four

Try-outs For
"Time Out For Ginger"

Friday, Nov. 8, 1957

Main Auditorium

3:30 — 5:30

Everyone Eligible

Sponsored by the Masquers