

HALLOWEEN ROYALTY CROWNED AT CARNIVAL

Cousins Honored By National Group

Mr. Thomas Cousins, voice and instrument instructor at Brevard College, was recently awarded a plaque in recognition of his outstanding accomplishments in music.

Dean John B. Bennett presented the award on behalf of the national organization, the First Chair of America, which honors outstanding musicians and musical organizations.

The honor was based upon the work Mr. Cousins did with musical organizations in Morganton city schools before joining the faculty of Brevard College.

The First Chair of America is composed of superior directors from high schools, colleges, and universities from every section of the nation. This board has conducted annual surveys, since 1940, to determine where, and by whom, really outstanding work in the field of music is being done.

Mr. Cousins' career in music has included positions as associate conductor of the North Carolina Symphony Orchestra, as trumpeter for the National Symphony Orchestra, as band leader and unit commander with the United States Army, and as industrialist and arranger for the Columbia Broadcasting System. Mr. Cousins is a composer and his musical works have been presented by nationally known groups, including such organizations as the famed Salt Lake City choir.

Attention Students!

The Student Council has announced that the members of the Men's and Women's House Councils have the power to give demerits to members of either sex.

Also, the number of students leaving dishes on the tables after eating in the cafeteria has made it necessary for the Student Council members to begin giving demerits for that offense. First time: ten demerits; second time, fifteen.

Student body president, Charlie Garner, has requested that, in the future, everyone please refrain from taking part in or condoning any disturbances similar to the one which resulted in the closing of the Student Lounge following Halloween night.

Inaugural Scenes Are Enumerated

BY JOHN DUVALL

Brevard College recently witnessed one of the greatest days in its history — the inauguration of Dr. Emmett K. McLarty, Jr., as its fifth president.

Coming to the Brevard College campus for this memorable event were many interesting and prominent personalities.

North Carolina's distinguished governor, Luther H. Hodges, came to make the principal address. Governor Hodges is recognized in state as well as in national circles as one of the truly great governors of our time. He stated that he had a personal attachment to Brevard

TOMMYE BRADLEY AND BURL HULL, the 1958 Halloween king and queen, are shown above after they were crowned at the recent Halloween carnival.

Bradley, Hull Reign Over Festivities

Highlighting the evening of the Brevard College annual Halloween Carnival was the crowning of the new king and queen. At 9:00 p. m., everyone gathered around, awaiting the announcement of the winner. Roland Peacock and Loretta Helms, last year's king and queen, crowned their successors, Burl Hull and Tommye Bradley, who reigned over the 1958 Halloween Carnival.

The barn rocked for three hours to the music of a band composed of "local talent" and sponsored by the Canterbury club.

Among the many sights, Dean Bennett was seen throwing darts at a portrait of himself and trying for an "A", "B", or "F" placed around the face of the picture. This booth was sponsored by the day students, who were assisted by Mr. DuBois' art class, which painted the comic portraits of Dean Bennett, Dean Henderson and President McLarty.

The Euterpeans and Clios voiced the opinion that "the South's gonna rise again" by throwing wet sponges at their Yankee friends, Pat Gray, Carol Engleberth, Sis Stevens, and Christy Rogers.

Another attraction at the carnival was the BINGO games, which were sponsored by the Nemos and Delphians.

A fortune teller, Sara Lowdermilk, was sponsored by the Masquers, and the Business club was responsible for a fishing pond.

The Veterans held a burlesque show back in a corner of the barn.

Brevard To Host Vocational Guidance Day

The Engineer's Club of Western North Carolina is sponsoring its sixth annual Vocational Guidance Day on Friday, November 14, at Brevard College.

Invitations have been sent to sixty-nine high schools and colleges throughout a nine county area. Some three hundred, fifty students are expected to attend.

A panel of faculty members from North Carolina State College School of Engineering will present information regarding the requirements, costs, and rewards of the profession.

It should be noted that on November 14, there will be no chapel program for college students. In Classes will meet regularly on Thursday, November 27, but there will be no classes on the Saturday after Thanksgiving!

Five Cheerleaders Added For 1958-59 Basketball Season

The Women's Intramural Council was in charge of the program in assembly on Wednesday, November 5, and at that time the student body elected the new cheerleaders for the 1958-59 basketball season.

Each person voted for five choices out of eighteen, and those elected were Janet Shiver, Chris Olson, Elaine Helms, Sis Stephens, and Jerry Ramsaur.

Other contestants were Nancy Poley, Marty Clark, Lois Hamilton, Ellen Almond, Mary Whitaker, Elizabeth Leonhardt, Barbara Harris, Sammy Vermillion, Edna Grimes, Betty Sutherland, Linda Sluder, Carole Vanlandingham, and Tommy Hamrick.

The returning cheerleaders from last year opened the program and introduced the girls in groups. Those returning are Tommye Bradley, chief; Shirley Moses, Loretta Helms, Kaye Willis, and Edith Hcuck.

Chief cheerleader, Tommye Bradley, urges all students to come out to the games and support the team with their yells as well as their presence.
